Laird 'Hopes' for End To War by Late 1969

New Defense Chief Meets With Clifford

WASHINGTON (AP) — Incoming Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird says he hopes the Vietnam war will be over by the time he draws up a new defense budget late next year.

Laird expressed the hope—without indicating it was any more than just that—at his first Pentagon news conference Friday following a two-hour meeting with the present defense chief, Clark M. Clifford.

Although sidestepping detailed discussion of some multi-billion dollar decisions he will face, Laird pledged to be careful with defense spending.

"But I would first hope," he said, "that by the time we get to preparation of our first budget we could end the war in Vietnam."

Laird's first budget will be mapped out late next fall. The budget almost always is finalized by late December.

Mutual Withdrawals

The end-of-the-war hope came three days after Clifford expressed "hope" the Paris peace talks would lead to some mutual troop withdrawals before Jan. 20. But Laird said he learned nothing in his chat with Clifford to indicate such agreement with Hanoi is imminent.

Laird's news conference—and three others by incoming secretaries George P. Shultz, labor, David M. Kennedy, Treasury, and Clifford M. Hardin, agriculture—were the first for President-elect Richard M. Nixon's Cabinet appointees.

Herb Klein, Nixon's director of communications, said the other eight appointees will meet with newsmen soon, probably next week.

Hardin told a Lincoln, Neb., news conference one of his first tasks will be to meet with representatives of various national farm interests.

Shultz, dean of the University of Chicago Business School, said he "dislikes" strikes by public employees, believes in a hands-off attitude by government toward labor dispute and doesn't think wage-price guidelines can stem inflation.

Won't Solve Problem

Kennedy, who met with newsmen in Chicago where he is a bank executive, said peace in Vietnam will not solve all the nation's economic problems.

Laird, a Republican congressman from Wisconsin for the past 16 years, dodged a question about whether he believes the United States is faced with a serious "security gap" with Russia such as President-elect Nixon charged during the campaign.

Laird said that topic didn't come up in his conversation with Clifford "and that would be a question that I would not comment on at this time."

The congressman hinted a basic disagreement with Clifford's plans to use defense facilities and funds as a means of improving social ills in the nation.

"I do not believe that's the primary responsibility of the Department of Defense but whenever it can be helpful, I think it should. The primary responsibility of the Department of Defense is to restore peace and to maintain peace in the world."

Laird said he is "optimistic and hopeful" this country can engage in talks with the Soviets about limiting strategic nuclear weapons.

On other matters, Laird said he would visit the war zone after his nomination is confirmed by the Senate.

Backed Jackson Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., as defense chief and had not sought the job himself.

Beginning in March or April, he said, he will set up a top-level commission to "reappraise the defense establishment and defense policy."

On a more personal level, Laird said he will divest himself of any stock he owns in companies which receive defense contracts. He said he doesn't expect it will amount to much.

"I am not a wealthy man in comparison with the other secretaries of defense that we have had in the past," he said.

"It's Soft and Fuzzy," was 3-year-old Eric Lilliequist's first reaction to Santa's beard. Eric, of Boulder, Colo., has been blind since birth. He gave his list of expected toys to Santa and then, to make sure he left a good impression, Eric broke into a chorus of Happy Birthday. (AP Wirephoto)

Curfew in Saigon

American Troops Alerted For New Enemy Offensive

SAIGON (AP) — A curfew has been launched attacks on week-ends when they feel the allies are off guard. An offensive against Saigon last May began on a Saturday night.

Commenting on the bombing raids today, described as the heaviest in two months, a U.S. spokesman said: "Priority requires that the B52s be brought into the 3rd Corps—Saigon, and outlying areas—right now."

In the past three days 160 of the Strategic Air Command's eight-jet Stratofortresses, flying from bases in Okinawa, Guam, and Thailand, have saturated an area northwest to northeast of Saigon with more than 5,000 tons of bombs.

Many Direct Hits U.S. headquarters said return crews reported their bombs triggered at least 52 secondary explosions Thursday and Friday, indicating direct hits on ammunition stores.

Meanwhile the U.S. Navy reported that enemy-initiated action has increased against boats patrolling rivers west and north-west of Saigon to block the flow of enemy troops and war materials from Cambodia.

A Navy spokesman said two U.S. sailors were killed and 14 wounded Friday in four attacks by enemy troops firing rocket-propelled grenades and machine guns from riverbanks, sampans and junks. The spokesman said Navy craft smashed six of the sampans and one large junk.

He said five Navy boats were shot up, and one was heavily damaged, in the attacks that ranged from 39 miles west of Saigon to 91 miles west of Saigon.

Helicopter Downed U.S. headquarters also reported that an Army OH-6 light observation helicopter was shot down by enemy ground fire Friday 30 miles northwest of the capital. One crewman was killed and two were wounded.

It was the 95th U.S. helicopter downed in combat over South Vietnam since 1961.

While analysts in Washington and Saigon warned of the possible winter offensive, only small skirmishes were reported on the ground today. Some U.S. field officers were puzzled by the degree of alarm.

At Ben Cat, a district town sitting astride two major enemy war zones 30 miles north of Saigon, American troops were placed on full alert, despite little sign of enemy activity.

Enemy Far Away An officer at Ben Cat told Associated Press correspondent Peter Arnett Friday the nearest enemy units capable of launching a major attack were four to five days' march away.

American forces at the Binh Duong province capital of Phu Quoc 50 miles north of Saigon, also on full alert, said that two enemy regiments normally operating in the province are known to be down to less than 200 men strength each, and so attempt has been made to build them up. A full-strength enemy regiment would number about 1,000 men.

Military Aid Being Slashed

Peking Infuriated at Hanoi

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON

PARIS (AP) — Red China is so displeased with Hanoi's willingness to negotiate a peace settlement it is slashing aid to North Vietnam, western diplomats claim.

The diplomats say they have detected a steady scaling-down of Chinese military aid to North Vietnam since March 31, when President Johnson first limited the bombing of the North. Since then the Chinese were said to have withdrawn nearly half their estimated 50,000-man labor force from within North Vietnam.

Indications are the total cessation of bombing Nov. 1 and preparations for expanded peace talks here have infuriated Peking even more.

Without making any official pronouncements, Peking is allowing its mass media to feature anti-Hanoi criticism, a favorite ploy of propagandists in Communist capitals.

Reports reaching the West also tell of more forceful expressions of displeasure, such as popular demonstrations against the North Vietnamese inside Red China.

One dispatch said a North Vietnamese consulate in Nan-king recently was surrounded and attacked by Red Guards. Others tell of Red Guards seizing shipments of Chinese arms bound for Hanoi.

After one such seizure of a munitions train, Prime Minister Chou En-lai was moved to complain against Red Guard behavior.

Some diplomats claim an angry Peking is trying to disengage from the North Vietnamese war effort. Others say that Chinese labor for rebuilding roads, railways and other communications was no longer needed as bombing contracted, so it was simply withdrawn without any substitute aid offered.

Allied experts note the following significant developments since last spring: —Leading Albanians from Premier Mehmet Shehu down have been criticizing Hanoi's participation in the Paris peace talks since October. Albania, China's only European ally, portrays such participation as "revisionism," taboo in the Communist rulebook. And Chinese organs have been publishing these criticisms.

—Eight days ago Chinese papers printed an Albanian leader's call on the North Vietnamese to quit the Paris talks and keep fighting until complete victory. Vice Premier and Defense Minister Beqir Balluku accused the Americans of plotting with the Russians to crush the Vietnamese.

—Again this week Peking publicized a statement by Shehu claiming peace is not going to be achieved at the Paris talks but on the battlefields of Vietnam.

—In Hanoi, Albania's ambassador sounded off at a national day reception against revisionists. His speech was so heated the envoys of nearly all Communist states staged a walkout. The Chinese stayed.

Presidents Alter Boundary of U.S.

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson says the friendly settling of a century-old dispute with Mexico should show other nations that borders "are not just lines across which men shake their fists in anger."

The President included this message for nations overseas Friday as he and President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz of Mexico, standing on a bridge midway between their countries, detonated a dynamite charge that diverted the Rio Grande River and formed a new southern border for the United States.

The blast and the meeting of the two presidents in an atmosphere of joviality and friendship returned to Mexico some 400 acres of land that has been in dispute since great floods of the mid-19th century shifted the Rio Grande's course.

Accompanying the President, who flew later to his ranch for the weekend, was his wife, Lady Bird.

Before the two presidents detonated the charge, they exchanged praises on the length of the friendship between the two countries.

"We have shown that borders between nations are not just lines which men shake their fists in anger," Johnson said. "They are also lines across which men may clasp hands in common purpose and friendship—and we have done so."

Diaz Ordaz, saying "we will do everything in our power to the people on both sides of this river do everything in their power to become better friends."

Kimberly, Xavier, Neenah Keep Winning Skeins Alive

Graff Leads Hawks Over St. Mary '5'

BY GEORGE MANCOSKY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MENASHA — A stubborn St. Mary High School quintet never permitted unbeaten Xavier to get too far away but was unable to overcome a disastrous second quarter and dropped a 71-59 Fox Valley Catholic Conference decision to the Hawks Friday night.

The triumph, which was the 20th in a row for the Appleton School over its Fox Cities Neighbors, also was the eighth this season and 10th straight over a 2-year span. Xavier's FVCC record was extended to 5-0 while Coach Bob Pliska's Zephyrs are 3-3 for the season and 1-3 in the league.

Although they trailed from late in the first period on, the Zephyrs gave it an all-out battle and several times appeared ready to gather momentum but never were quite able to pull it off.

The Menashans, who did a respectable board job against a much taller foe, had a 14-13 lead with 1:35 remaining in the first stanza when their miseries began.

Coach Gene Clark's Hawks chalked up the last three points of the period and then popped in the first 10 of the second to increase their margin to 26-14.

Clark threw a zone defense at the Menashans and several times errant passes were picked off and converted into field goals.

With 4:02 elapsed in the period, St. Mary finally put its first points through the nets. It trimmed the spread to six points but the conference leaders had it back up to 11 at the intermission.

Quarter No. 2 saw the visitors notch 16 points, including seven baskets in 14 attempts, while the hosts were limited to a mere seven, including only two fielders in 14 tries.

Xavier owned a couple of 13-point leads in the third period. At 46-33, St. Mary had the makings of a comeback when it hit five straight points but it was unable to slim the difference to less than eight points and the scoreboard read 52-42 at the three-fourths juncture.

The winners built up 60-45 and

Papermakers Rip Ghosts, 83-50, For Eighth Straight Triumph; Hagany's 29 Points Pace Win

BY ED VAN BERKEL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

KIMBERLY — The Kimberly Papermakers rolled to their third Mid-Eastern Conference win and eighth straight, overall, with an 83-50 decision over a game—but outclassed Kaukauna High School quintet.

The Papermakers jumped off to a 2-point lead within the first 30 seconds of play on a bucket by Bill Lamers and Dave LaBorde countered shortly thereafter for the Ghosts for their first and only tie in the game.

Lamers and Hagany each registered two baskets to boost Kimberly into a 10-2 lead before LaBorde again hit for the losers. Kimberly gradually widened the gap to hold a 20-11 lead at the end of the first period. The Papermakers connected on nine of 19 floor shots in the period while Kaukauna managed five of 13.

14-Point Edge

Kaukauna scoring improved slightly in the second period, thanks to connecting on five of six charity tosses in addition to five baskets, while Kimberly continued at an even pace, scoring 20 points for a 40-26 halftime lead. Kaukauna duplicated the first quarter from the floor with five of 13, while the Papermakers hit on nine of 18 for 50 per cent.

Hagany and Lamers went on a scoring spree in the third frame as the score rose to 67-37 at the end of the period. Kaukauna was limited to 11 points by a tough Kimberly press defense. The Ghosts managed five of 16 from the floor and Kimberly hit on 11 of 25, completely dominating the boards.

Reserves See Action

Coach Jack Wipich began using his reserves in the third period and benched his entire first team for all of the final quarter. Despite sitting out eight minutes of play, Hagany finished with 29 points and Lamers with 19. Coach Ken Vander Velden of the Ghosts also used reserves for much of the final frame, giving boys game-experience in a contest which he knew was out of reach.

Kimberly reserves connected on eight of 18 shots in the final quarter while Kaukauna managed only four of 11. The Ghosts finished with about 36 per cent shooting with 19 of 53 while Kimberly shot 46 per cent on 37 of 80. Sean Rohan was the most consistent scorer for the losers connecting for 13 points, most of his baskets coming on jumpers from well out on the court.

Rockets in 64-42 Win Over Preble

NEENAH — Neenah High School's second half assault squelched any thoughts of an upset which Green Bay Preble may have envisioned and as a result the Rockets remained unbeaten by notching a 64-42 conquest here Friday night.

With the triumph, Coach Ron Eiderman's Rockets boosted their Fox River Valley Conference record to 5-0 and their season's log to 6-0. The Hornets are 2-5 overall and 1-4 in league competition.

Coach Jerry Hopfensperger's Bayites only trailed by four points with 31 seconds left in the first half and by six (36-30) at the intermission.

Led by Tom Kopitzke and Brian Cannon, who accounted for seven of the nine baskets and all but four of the points, the red and white chalked up an 18-7 advantage in the third 8-minute segment to command a 44-27 margin at its conclusion.

With the Tally 23-21, the Rockets cut loose with a string of 10 straight points while Preble went for about four minutes without being able to get anything to fall through the cords.

The Hornets' entire production in the period consisted of two baskets and three free throws.

The Twin Citians continued to pad their lead in the final frame. They had the difference up to 22 points just a minute deep into the quarter and were up to 60-37 with 1:30 left in the game.

It was chiefly through the talents of Kopitzke, 6-3 senior forward, that the Rockets enjoyed a halftime edge.

The conference's second ranking scorer hit nine of his team's 12 points in the first quarter and added six in the second for 15 of the 26 at halftime.

Neenah threw a full-court press at its foes and five times in the first half the Hornets weren't able to get the ball in play in the allotted time.

Game scoring honors went to Preble's Mike Wier with 22 points on nine baskets and four free throws. However, 10 were scored in the fourth period with the battle lost.

scored 13 straight points and an eventual 71-59 victory. Other Xavier players are Bob Fullerton (45) and Brad Graff. St. Mary cagers include Phil Raiche (42) and Dave Lotzer (50). (Post-Crescent Photo)

Racine Triumphs, 52-48

Comeback Not Enough, Foxes Lose

BY RON WITT
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Fox Valley Lutheran, trailing by 12 points after a horrendous first half, staged a gallant second-half rally to take a 3-point lead in the fourth quarter but then fell victim to its own mistakes again and dropped a 52-48 decision to Racine Lutheran Friday night.

Forward Northern Peppers, a 6-1 junior, topped the winners with 18 points, including 12 in the second half. The Foxes' got double-figures scoring from Mark Bootz with 14 and John Hannemann and Beck Goldbeck with 10 each. Bootz and Hannemann had all of their points in the second half.

After falling behind by a 23-11 margin at the end of the first half — yes, half — the Foxes applied a pressure defense and caught the wearying Crusaders with some spirited play. By the close of the third period, FVL had reduced the margin to five points at 38-33.

The home forces came within one point for the first time since the opening period, when the Foxes' John Hannemann hit a short jumper to make it 38-37 with just 19 seconds gone in the last frame. At the 5:55 mark, FVL finally grabbed the lead at 43-42 on another Hannemann jumper, and the chunky forward hit still another swisher moments late to push the score to 45-42.

A basket by FVL's Chuck Hildebrandt offset two free throws by Racine's Steve Wolcott to save the margin at 47-44 with 4:20 remaining, and then the invaders began their winning push.

Bob Heinkel's long jumper closed the gap to one point, and rugged Ron Schaeffer notched one of two free tosses to tie it at 47-47 with 2:53 showing.

Steal Hurts

Dick Unke temporarily stemmed the tide for the Foxes with a free throw two seconds later, and FVL even got the ball back after that — only to lose it on a steal by Wolcott, who gave the Crusaders the edge at 49-48 with 1:48 to play.

Fox Valley brought the ball down court and was then charged with a crucial traveling violation to give Racine possession. As a consequence, the Foxes were forced to foul to try to get the ball back, and Heinkel sank a pair of free tosses to give his team a 51-48 advantage with 1:29 left.

Needing a bucket in a hurry, the Foxes were in too much of a hurry in their next endeavor inbounds and promptly threw the ball away. Mark Bootz, who had all of his points in the second half, then fouled Racine's Heinkel at the 51-second mark.

Heinkel missed a bonus setup, but his Crusader teammates out-scraped the Foxes for the rebound and possession. Later, a jump ball ensued, and FVL gained the ball with just 30 seconds left.

The Foxes, hoping for a 3-point play, worked the ball in to big Beck Goldbeck, but the 6-7 senior's shot rolled off the rim to end all hopes. Racine got its

Catlin's Basket Boosts West Past North

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN

Athletic heroics are a Mark Catlin specialty today, just as they were more than 60 years ago.

In a memorable football game shortly after the turn of the century, the late Mark Catlin, Sr., tackled a Michigan player for a safety, enabling the University of Chicago to end a long winning streak of the famed Fielding Yost.

Friday night, in Seims gym the elder Catlin's grandson Mark pumped through a 15-footer at the final buzzer to give Appleton West a thrill-laden 67-65 basketball victory over Sheboygan North.

Catlin, who scored 15 points for the evening, was the final hero among a roster of stalwarts as the Terrors bounced back from a 43-42 loss to

Menasha Upends Raiders, 56-53

TWO RIVERS — Ron Haack and Bill Zeininger each hit two clutch free throws in the last 44 seconds of play to insure the Menasha Bluejays a 56-53 victory over Two Rivers in a Mid-Eastern Conference cage struggle Friday night.

It was the second with in three starts for the days in league play, while the Raiders evened their mark at 2-2. Menasha and Two Rivers are both 2-5 overall.

After the Raiders' Reuben Plantic hit a jumper to pull his team within one point at 52-51, Haack was fouled and sank both ends of a bonus setup to win with 44 seconds left. Two Rivers then missed two shots from the floor, and Zeininger was fouled with 12 seconds to go. He also connected on the bonus and Menasha had it wrapped up. Reed Stangel drove in for the Raiders' last two points in the waning seconds.

Tied at Half

The contest was close all the way, with Two Rivers jumping off to a 15-11 advantage at the end of the first quarter but falling into a 28-28 tie by the half.

Zeininger's bucket at the end of the third period gave the Jays a 45-43 edge, but the home club hit the first four points of the last frame to go ahead, 47-45.

Terry Noeller hit two of his 16 points at the 4:46 mark to give Menasha a tie, and the basket

East Topples South, 54-46; Jones Hits 19

SHEBOYGAN — Appleton High School-East hit 40 per cent from the floor and scored a 54-46 Fox River Valley Conference victory over Sheboygan South's Redmen here Friday night.

The win boosted the Patriots to a 3-2 record in the league, and South now has an identical mark.

East started with a flurry as Gary Bleier and Bob Birkholz swished their initial field goal attempts and the Patriots jumped off to a 7-2 lead. By the end of the period, East had a 16-9 lead and Tom Jones had eight of the 16 markers for the Patriots while Pete Fischer scored all nine of the points for South.

Staged Comeback

In the second period, the Redmen staged a comeback as Rog Miller and John Leitner dropped in buckets to make it 16-13. Bleier hit a jump shot to put the East lead back at five points, but South again fought back and tied the count at 18-18 with five minutes left before halftime.

Scott Wenzlau and Miller traded buckets to make it 20-20, and then Dale Ahren gave South its only lead of the game as he canned a free throw with 2:20 remaining.

East had a 27-25 advantage at the half, and buckets on the first three shots of the third period put the Patriots in front to stay. Jones hit on two fielders and Kiletoth one as AHS-E opened up a 33-25 lead.

With three minutes left in the game East had a 52-40 margin. Jones was the big gun for LITTLE CHUTE — Stampeding the hoop for 28 points in the third period, Little Chute High School's Mustangs broke open a close game here Friday night and went on to rout Bear Creek's Bruins, 67-52.

The Fitzpatrick twins, Mike and Bill, remained just that, each scoring nine field goals and one free throw for 19 points a piece, including 18 between them in the decisive third period.

Leading 30-23 at halftime, Tom Gossens' charges went into a full-court press and before the befuddled Bruins could say six points, Bill Fitzpatrick had caromed home a bucket and brother Mike countered with two more, hiking the Little Chute advantage to 36-23.

By the time the canto had ended, Mike had canned six fielders. Bill recorded three and Steve Mollen a pair. Ben Penning, Jim Balgie and Bob Hackel accounted for a half-dozen more markers to complete the 28-point bombardment.

In the meantime, the Wolf River Conference representatives could muster but 11 tallies, seven by Jerry Shaddock, the loop's leading scorer with a 21-4 per game average.

Well out of range at 50-34 heading into the closing segment, the Mustangs reserves were ushered in full force, enabling Bear Creek to narrow the final deficit to 15 points. The winners, in notching their second triumph in six outings, took a phenomenal 91 shots from the floor, meshing 31 of them for a 34 per cent accuracy mark.

The Bruins, in converting 24 per cent on 16 of 68 attempts, were paced in scoring by Bob Fletcher and Shaddock with 20 and 18 tallies, respectively.

West Cagers Tip North

Appleton East three days earlier.

Sophomore Rick Reitzner, who peppered his varsity career high of 26 points, got his team's final four clutch points prior to Catlin's tie-breaker. Soph Tim Moriarty sank two key final-period baskets, and rebounded strongly.

Senior Mark Schroeder made one basket early in the frantic fourth period and also stole the ball from North with 57 seconds left to give West the opportunity to re-ede the game. Junior Brad McIntyre added 12 points to the game-long cause of the Terrors.

Slats 27 of 55

Dick Emanuel-coached West, which shot exceedingly well against North's 2-3 zone (with 27 of 55, for 49 per cent), boosted its Fox River Valley Conference record to 3-2 and the over-all mark to 3-2. North's raiders, who shot 41.5 per cent (22 of 53) against AHS-W's pressing zone defense, suffered their second loss in four league starts.

The aggressive Terrors accumulated 21 fouls to only 11 for North. The Raiders sank 21 of 29 free throws, while West bagged 13 of 16 from the line.

West took a 51-47 lead into the final quarter. In the first three minutes of give and take, the Terrors added one more point to the margin — 58-53. North countered with five fast points — a 3-point play by Don Otten and a basket by Mark Breckick to tie the game, at 58.

Reitzner's free throw gave West a temporary edge, but North took over, at 2:57, on two free throws by Richie Peterson.

Moriarty dropped in a lay-up, with 2:34 left, for a 1-point West lead. Mark Hildenbrand, who led North scorers with 18 points, sank a free throw, with 2:22 left — and it was even again. Otten's 15-footer with 1:46 left gave North a 63-61 advantage. Otten stole the ball with 1:20 to go.

Schroeder pulled West out of a sticky situation by re-stealing the ball at the :57 mark. Reitzner zeroed in from 20 feet away, with 32 seconds left, and the score was knotted again. Peterson canned a pair of free tosses, with only 13 seconds left, and the invaders were ahead, 65-63.

Final Deadlock

Reitzner, showing remarkable poise for a sophomore, was fouled with nine seconds to go and dropped in both free throws to create the final deadlock. Three seconds later, shrieking whistles interrupted the furious action, and North was called for a traveling violation.

The Terrors brought the ball in behind the time line and got it to Catlin. He dribbled to the left of the free throw circle, stopped and launched the decisive shot. The buzzer sounded as the ball was in flight, but it sailed through the hoop cleanly.

The last second bell-ringer climaxed a notable show of long-range accuracy by Catlin and Reitzner. Together, they sank 17 baskets, and only one apiece was of the short variety. Catlin hit on seven of 12.

Reitzner, in form reminiscent of stand out Jack Ullwelling in his sophomore season 13 years ago, fired in 10 of 14 from the floor and six or seven from the free throw line.

The Terrors trailed for most of the first quarter until Reitzner's free throw, with 1:34 left, tied it at 13-all. Moriarty's lay-up, with 1:15 left in the period, put West ahead and it never relinquished the lead through the rest of the first-half fireworks.

Both teams were torrid in the second quarter, as West sank seven of its first eight shots and North canned six of its initial eight.

The Terrors' 1-point halftime lead (37-36) was erased by Otten in the first 20 seconds of the third period. West came back and eventually took a 6-point lead (51-45), the biggest of the game.

Breckick and Otten backed up Hildebrand with 17 and 14 points, respectively, for North. APPLETON WEST (16-21-14-16 — 67) Catlin 7-10; Schroeder 3-0-2; McIntyre 4-4-5; Reitzner 10-6-4; Carlson 0-4-1; Moriarty 3-2-4; Hanson 0-0-2. Totals 72-13-21. FTM 3

FVL, now 1-2 in Midwest Prep Conference play, actually out-scored its foe from the floor by a 31-30 margin. The Crusaders made up for the deficit, however, by hitting 12 of 21 free attempts in contrast to FVL's six of 13.

Racine, which evened its league record to 1-1, made 20 of 31 floor shots for 64.5 per cent. After connecting on just five of 34 tries in the first half, FVL came back to swing 16 of 37 in the second to wind up 31 for 71 and 28.3 per cent.

64-46 leads in the last frame but St. Mary came back to get a 10-point deficit at 64-54 with 3:50 to play.

The hosts then hit a 3-minute famine and Xavier dropped in a string of seven to go ahead by 17. Zephyr Pliska inserted his reserves with 1:38 left and the Hawks in front, 71-54. Freshman Tom Schultz made the last five points for the losers.

Xavier, in the last half of the quarter, was content to work the ball around until it received a good shot with the result that its statistics for the quarter showed seven success in 10 tries.

Game honors went to the Hawks' Brad Graff with 20 points, including three first-quarter baskets and four in the fourth. Bob Fullerton had 17 points and Tom Thomson, Mike Clark and Mike Barras, who did a good job in relief of Thomson after the latter ran into foul trouble, all scored nine.

Pat Hermus, doing an excellent job against a taller adversary, led St. Mary with 17 points. Dave Lotzner hit 14, including 10 in the third frame, and Phil Raiche, at 6-1 up against the 6-8 Fullerton, checked in with 12.

Xavier's free throw shooting drew the displeasure of Coach Clark, producing only 15 points in 30 attempts. St. Mary made 13 of 24.

Unofficially, the field goal figures showed the Appletonians with a nifty 55 per cent on 28 of 51. The Twin Citians dropped in 23 of 60 for 38 per cent.

Menasha quickly took advantage of the lull, as Haack canned a jump shot, Zeininger a free toss, and Brad Schliem a drive-in to make it 52-47.

The home forces weren't through yet, though, as Barry Dennis hit first and then Plantico to slice the margin to 52-51, setting the stage for the final flurry of free throws.

Snowfall Will Help Skiers, Not Fisherman

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snowfall set up a promising weekend for skiers and other winter-sports advocates in northern Wisconsin.

But if the region's weather was being generous with the outdoorsmen, it was dealing harshly with indoor sports fans: Jamestown College postponed a pair of weekend basketball games with Northland College at Ashland because of snow drifts across North Dakota roads.

The State Department of Natural Resources warned snowmobilers, ice fishermen and outdoor travelers that the new snow cover could be concealing some hazards, particularly thin ice.

Ice Unsafe

Modest temperatures earlier in the week encouraged some melting of ice, the department noted. It said ice on most lakes is not yet adequately re-established for full ice-fishing safety. The weekend forecast included a decrease in wind speed to about 15 miles an hour Sunday, with skies clearing. Temperatures are to continue falling, reaching the zero level by Sunday morning.

Snow depths as of Friday night included Park Falls 7 inches, Marquette, Mich., 6 inches, Superior 14 inches, Houghton, Mich., 6 inches.

Fortunately, yachting is out-of-season in the Great Lakes. Lake Superior freighters were reporting icy winds of up to 60 miles an hour, and one ship docked at Sault Ste. Marie with a half-foot coating of ice on her decks.

Badger Icemen Tip North Dakota

MADISON (AP)— Top-ranked North Dakota took its first licking of the season Friday night from Wisconsin, and carries a 7-1 record against the Badgers in a rematch tonight.

Wisconsin (6-3-1) was tied with its guests 2-2 after Bob Poffenroth's two goals for the victors. Murray Heatley scored two goals in the next period to give Wisconsin a 4-3 lead, and added a goal in the final frame.

The two teams slashed at each other's goal, with Wisconsin's Bob Vroman making 40 saves and his North Dakota counterpart, Jerry Severson, making 33.

business firms to transport four players to the campus last August for enrollment.

After learning they had been in violation of conference rules, Minnesota athletic officials tried to rectify the matter by sending three boys back home and having the other pay the company his flight fare.

Commissioner Bill Reed ordered the Minnesota Department of Athletics to provide his evidence of a program of indoctrination of all staff members in details of conference rules and regulations. The university also was warned that any violation of athletic regulations during the next year would result in the most stringent of penalties.

Reed said it was all a matter of unacquaintance with the rules and he found the action to have no ulterior motives. The four boys were not at fault in the matter and played freshman football.

They are Craig Curry and Ernest Cook of Florida and Larry Stevenson and Curt Mayfield of Memphis.

Reed said the use of company resources for athletic purposes comes under a rule which bans the use of pooled funds in recruiting.

Tigerton Man Sentenced to State Prison

A 23-year-old route 1, Tigerton man who last fall was charged by Outagamie County officials with issuing a forged $4,200 check in Wausau this week to 20 years in the state prison at Waupun.

Terrance E. Fields, one of two prisoners who escaped from the Marathon County Jail Dec. 1, pleaded guilty in Marathon County Court to 18 counts of issuing forged checks, two counts of auto theft, and one count of robbery, and jailbreak.

Outagamie County Sheriff's investigators said their warrant for Fields was not considered in the sentencing, and as a result, the warrant will remain active. Fields allegedly issued a forged $4,200 check at Don Bennett Sports Car in Hortonville. The check, used to purchase a car, reportedly was drawn on a fictitious bank.

Richard A. Moeck, 21, Milwaukee, who escaped from jail with Fields, was sentenced to not more than five years in prison for jail break and burglary.

Jim Strasser led the Indians in scoring with 25 markers and Tom Last chipped in with 21.

Waupaca Firm--Teamsters Examiner Ends Hearing On Unfair Practices

MENASHA — A National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) trial examiner abruptly ended an unfair labor practice hearing Friday after earlier observation that the government had a weak case against an Appleton union.

The strike-bound Faulks Brothers Construction Co. of Waupaca originated charges against Teamsters Local 563 of Appleton, and subsequently the regional office of the NLRB at Milwaukee issued complaints and set trial.

Herbert Silverman, NLRB trial judge from Washington, D.C., began hearing the case Thursday morning and periodically interrupted testimony and suggested the union and company might enter into a stipulation and thus discontinue the proceedings.

This is what happened Friday afternoon as counsel for Local 563 and Faulks Brothers entered into an agreement involving future conduct of the strike, and picketing on the part of the union.

However, attorneys from the NLRB prosecution division's regional NLRB office at Milwaukee entered an objection to the agreement between the disputants.

The union said it would not engage in any unlawful activity and would continue legal picketing, with notice of same to be posted.

It had been alleged that officers and members of Local 563 engaged in unlawful secondary picketing at jobsites in the Waupaca and King areas, along with attempting to coerce and intimidate employees of Faulks and firms doing business with the Waupaca firm.

Local 563 struck Faulks Aug. 6, claiming the company refused to recognize the union as representative of its ready-mix drivers and would not engage in collective bargaining. Since then the firm's operations have been hampered due to picketing of construction sites, and destination points of ready-mix and other material deliveries.

Area Projects

Projects affected by the strike include one of the new buildings at the Grand Army Home for Veterans, King, and the new city hall at Waupaca.

Since the strike, Faulks has

Misconduct Not Enough For Expulsion

Judge Doyle Rules Other Criteria Must Also Be Used

C. R. Seaborne Sr.
C. R. Seaborne, Ex-Thilmany Officer, Retires

MADISON AP — In a decision which could have far-reaching effects on the cases of 92 black students at Wisconsin State University - Oshkosh, U. S. District Judge James E. Doyle ruled Friday that misconduct as the only criterion for discipline is no longer adequate for permanent dismissal of a demonstrator from school.

The judge, noting "courts have been increasingly disposed to intervene in school disciplinary situations," said a University of Wisconsin regulation under which two students were expelled is unconstitutional.

The university, he declared, formerly having "wide latitude in student discipline, cannot use 'misconduct' as the sole factor for determining whether a student should be expelled.

Gives Up Seat On Company's Board of Directors

Hailed by Attorney Percy Julian of Madison, an attorney for members of the Students for a Democratic Society, called Doyle's ruling a "landmark decision" in university-student relations because it means certain universities cannot violate due process of law.

Doyle, however, declined to issue an injunction against use of the misconduct rule although he had declared it unconstitutional.

"For the present," he reasoned, "to grant injunctive relief and to leave the university defenseless, so far as its regulation of conduct is concerned, would be to permit and possibly to encourage a situation in which many values, including the exercise of First Amendment freedoms themselves, might be impaired."

Robert S. Cohen of Levittown, Pa., and William S. Simons of Larchmont, N.Y., were two of the 10 students originally requesting the injunction.

Both had been expelled after about 70 students and policemen were injured in an antiwar demonstration at the university in October, 1967.

Seaborne started with Thilmany in 1918 and was instrumental in the consolidation of the plant's production facilities to the one location in Kaukauna.

As an engineer, he designed and supervised the reconstruction of the company's pulp mill, papermaking and converting facilities.

In addition to his activities at Thilmany, in 1921 he supervised the construction of a paper mill at Niagara Falls, New York, a joint Thilmany-Kimberly Clark venture which has since been terminated. In 1927 he engineered and supervised the construction of the Longview Fiber Company plant at Longview, Washington.

Holds Patents

Seaborne holds many patents for papermaking related equipment. The two best known are his Vortex beater and rubber marking roll. The Vortex beater is a device for mixing pulp. The principle of his invention is still the standard method of beating pulp. The marking roll involved cutting a design into a rubber roll that fits into the paper machine and which imprints a design on the paper.

Seaborne is credited as the prime mover behind construction of the Elm Street bridge in Kaukauna and the Thilwerth Park. He was active in the development of the Kaukauna Utility, the building of the Boy Scout camp at Gardner Dam and served as a director for the Appleton Memorial Hospital.

He was the founder of the Thilmany Quarter Century Club, the Thilo Nes, and the expanded health service.

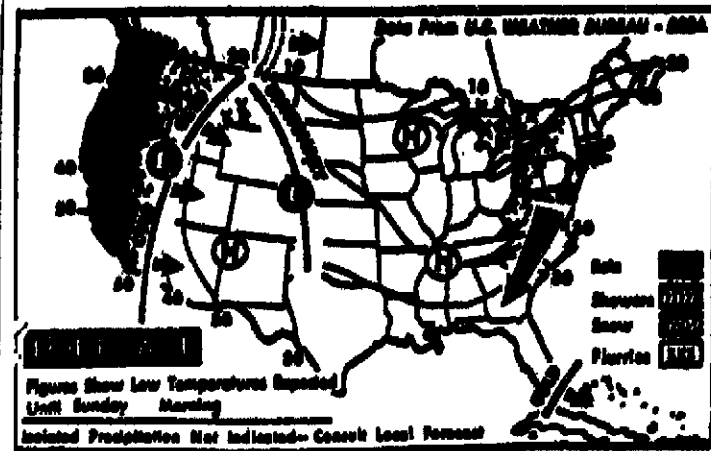

Seaborne was chief engineer of Thilmany from 1927 to 1940 when he was named vice president and a director. In 1950, he was made executive vice president and served in this capacity until he retired in 1959. He continued to serve on the board of directors and in an advisory capacity for Thilmany until the present.

$150 Fine Levied for School Zone Speeding, Failing to Yield

Two traffic charges brought by Appleton police on Dec. 5 resulted in fines totaling $150 or 37 days in jail Friday morning for David J. Krueger, 19, 133 Garfield St., Kaukauna.

Krueger pleaded guilty of speeding 50 miles per hour in a 15 mile per hour school zone in the 2100 block of N. Mason Street and was fined $125 and costs. Police were using radar equipment when they clocked Krueger's speed.

He was fined another $25 for failing to yield at an open intersection at Outagamie and Washington Streets.

Snow Flurries Are Forecast Tonight for the Great Lakes region and in the Appalachians. It will be warmer in the central part of the nation and colder along both coasts. Rain is expected throughout the West Coast states, turning to snow and snow flurries in the Rockies. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Judge Hughes Killed in Crash 'Henry Was a Worthy Opponent'

BY FERN SMITH
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OSHKOSH — "There was only one Henry and it won't be the same without him," said friends and fellow lawyers Friday after the death of Judge Henry F. Hughes.

Hughes, prominent Oshkosh attorney.

"Everyone knew that Henry was in the courtroom. He was a worthy protagonist and an active participant in any court scene and he was his own best advocate," said one attorney who had met him before the bench often through the years.

Hughes, 64, was killed Thursday afternoon when his car hit the rear of a stopped school bus on State 26, four miles southwest of Oshkosh.

Salesman of Himself

"Henry was a true salesman of himself. He brought respect to the law, whether as a trial attorney — the role he relished — or as a judge during his years as municipal and circuit judge here, and on the Supreme Court bench," commented another with genuine admiration in his voice.

The young attorneys were remembering him today as "a full-time lawyer, who enjoyed his work, and had the enviable knack of twisting the long needle in jest."

"Judge Hughes would help you when you were starting out and never seemed too busy to talk. Early in our friendship he taught me that a good lawyer did his homework, then fought for the opinion he had formed and for his client."

Worked Late

"Few of us think of Henry as an office lawyer. He liked hard work and when a trial was underway, his office lamp burned late at night. Thoroughly versed in the law, his recall of certain cases relative to the points at hand was astonishing," he recalled another.

"He loved a fight and came into court well prepared for it. A big man physically, everything he did fitted into that mold."

"It was no holds barred and no matter what attorney was on the other side, he respected him and was respected. Henry would do everything to take your case apart, but not you."

Many enjoyed Hughes' thespian qualities. With him, acting was an art — but good sound law backed his every move. "He was an amazing man, very sure of himself. His clients were always in good hands when Henry took the case."

Direct Man

Hughes gave every man his due. "He was the most direct man I've ever known, but when he had stated his opinion, or his case, win or lose, it was over and done with. He never gnawed the bone again."

Difference of opinion he viewed with a healthy philosophy. In one recent legal association decision, Hughes told his peers, "I don't agree with you, but if you want to bloody your head, go on with it."

Judges will, they say, remember Henry Hughes for the way he broke out of the "boxed in" salary schedules for judges. His resignation from the state Supreme Court bench after serving four years, brought the issue to a head and the review began which ended in judges' salaries being raised to match the economy.

"Let's just say, that when there was work to be done, Henry worked," said one attorney. "When it was time to play, he played. He loved life. He will be missed."

Abbot Killeen Calls for Election of Successor

Abbot S. M. Killeen

DE PERE — A call for the election of a co-adjutor abbot for St. Norbert Abbey was issued Thursday by Abbot S. M. Killeen, O. Praem., head of the community since 1955.

The announcement of the choosing of a co-adjutor, to become his successor a year later, was contained in a letter to members of the Norbertine Community. Abbot Killeen has tentatively set the date for the election, subject to the formal approval of the abbot general of the order, on Jan. 6, 1969, his 64th birthday.

The letter also said that a year later, on Jan. 6, 1970, he hoped "to petition the proper authorities of the order to be relieved of my responsibilities as Abbot of St. Norbert Abbey and offer my services to my successor in whatever capacity he and the community decide will be the most appropriate."

Abbot Killeen gave no specific reasons for his decision, other than his age. His letter merely said that his decision "seems to me to be within the spirit" of decrees of Vatican II and of the Norbertine General Chapter.

significant developments in the religious community and the college. While he was executive vice president, St. Norbert became a co-educational institution.

tion in 1952, and control of affairs of the college has been increasingly placed in the hands of a lay board of trustees.

The huge new abbey east of Minahan Stadium was built during his administration, the community has begun planning a project for a South American campus and a Peruvian Mission has been established.

In addition to the prestige of his position as head of the only Norbertine Abbey in the western hemisphere, Abbot Killeen has occupied posts of consequence in the general chapter. He has just completed a term as a definitor, a member of the advisory council to the Abbot General of the order.

WSU-O's Negro Teachers Not Asked for Their Views

OSHKOSH (AP) — Oshkosh State University headed toward hearings for more than 90 suspended Negro students with the spectre of racial discrimination bidding to become a serious issue.

University officials met twice with students Friday to defend disciplinary action against students involved in a destructive campus demonstration Nov. 21.

Although all Negro student demonstrators were suspended, four white students were not.

James W. McKee, 27, Negro director of the university's program for "the culturally distinct," said Negro faculty witnesses had not been asked their opinions of the November incident.

The action against Negro students and not against white students leads him to "kind of think" the university is willing to oust Negroes, he said.

University President Roger Guiles also said the school's student conduct code is still being studied, and that it contains no specific provision concerning mass violence.

The Nov. 21 disturbance forced the university to close down classes for Thanksgiving vacation ahead of schedule. It was the first time in the history of Wisconsin colleges that a major school suspended activities because of mass activity.

White students, meanwhile, were circulating petitions Friday, calling for a demonstration in support of "blacks," "due process" and "reinstatement."

The students called for a sympathy march from the campus to the Oshkosh courthouse where the hearings are scheduled.

Man Slightly Injured When Truck Tips After It Is Forced From Road

Jerome A. Subboda, 34, Pulasaki, was taken to St. Mary Hospital, Green Bay, with minor injuries early Thursday afternoon after the dump truck he was driving left Outagamie County Trunk EE, four miles north of Freedom, and tipped over.

Subboda told authorities he was eastbound on EE when his truck was forced off the road by a westbound auto that was in the center of the roadway. He said the 1966 truck, owned by Nelson Trucking Co., Green Bay, got onto the shoulder, went out of control, and tipped.

There was about $500 damage to the truck, according to county police.

Waupaca, I-S Quints Win

Waupaca retained the lead in the Central Wisconsin Basketball Conference and Iola-Scandinavia also kept its loop record unblemished with victories Friday night.

The Comets of Waupaca rolled to a 65-56 victory over Manawa. Iola-Scandinavia held on for a narrow 71-70 win over Weyauwega.

The Comets now have a 4-0 CWC record and I-S has a 3-0 mark.

A steady pressure by the Comets developed an 8-point first quarter lead which they widened to 15 at the half, paying the way for the win over Manawa.

At the end of the half the Comets, led by high-scoring Mick Sannes, had a 35-20 lead. Sannes paced both teams with 27 points.

Although Langmann scored 10 points, the Comets maintained control throughout the game by steady defensive action.

For Weyauwega it was the second straight narrow defeat in a league game. Last week, the Indians lost a 2-point decision to Waupaca in the closing seconds. Iola - Scandinavia jumped off to an 11-point lead at the half, mainly on the strength of a big second period which saw the Thunderbirds hit for 24 points while holding the Indians to 12.

Weyauwega whittled away at the lead and reduced it to 67-64 with two minutes left. In trying to get at the ball, the Indians committed fouls in the late going and I-S hit on four straight free throws to make it 71-64.

In the last seven seconds, Dennis Harrigan scored a pair of baskets for Weyauwega, including one at the buzzer that cut the victory margin to one point.

Jim Nolan poured in 11 field goals and five free throws as he hit 27 for Weyauwega and Harrigan added 20. For I-S, Wayne Skowan scored 24 points and Bruce Meagher had 19.

Mayor Assails Welfare Chief For Absence

Warns Ehrlicke Not to Leave Future Meetings

Merton Ehrlicke, Appleton Welfare Department director, had no comment Friday on a letter sent him by Mayor George Buckley which warned him not to leave council meetings in the future.

The letter arose out of an incident during Wednesday night's council meeting when the budget was up for a public hearing.

Ehrlicke said he left the council chambers for 20 minutes but had no further comment.

In his letter, Buckley told Ehrlicke if he did it again, he would "be forced to ask for your resignation as director of welfare."

Buckley told Ehrlicke he expected him in the future to strictly adhere to rule 14 of the city council.

"If you are unable to follow the rules of the council as adopted by our aldermen — or do not choose to — then there is no place for you in our city government," Buckley wrote.

"The rest of our department heads are present throughout an entire session and there is no apparent reason for you to place yourself above the rest of us," the mayor continued.

He advised Ehrlicke if he wished to absent himself for any longer than 5 to 10 minutes, he should ask permission.

"As you well know," Buckley informed Ehrlicke, "this is not the first time that you have been guilty of unexplained absence from council meetings."

The mayor claimed Ehrlicke's attitude "...Reflects a total contempt of the council..."

Last spring Ehrlicke had announced his intention to run for mayor against Buckley but dropped out before the primary.

Traffic Signal Vetoed for Intersection

NEENAH — City officials are not accepting as final a State Division of Highways decision turning down the city's request for traffic signals at Columbian and Church streets.

The state department said a November count indicated that traffic was not heavy enough to warrant a traffic light at the intersection. It has the power to decide on all changes at the intersection because State 150 has been routed on Columbian Street.

Mayor Donald Hassler explained that the matter probably would be referred back to the redevelopment authority's traffic sub-committee to further study.

Racon had recommended the traffic control so that Church Street could be switched back to two-way traffic, but added that the change should not be made until a light could be installed.

Police Chief Lawrence Malouf pointed out that a traffic count is only one of the criteria used to determine whether or not a light is warranted. He said, "Without a light at the intersection, Church Street should not be changed back to two way."

Wayne Bryan, director of public works, said the city could probably get another chance at the light when the state considers turning patterns and visibility factors.

Taft School Addition Plans Okayed; $170,000 Job Enters Bid Phase

NEENAH — The school district's building and grounds committee approved the floor plans of the addition to Taft Elementary School Thursday and directed the architect to prepare working drawings and bid specifications. The board also received Roosevelt School addition specifications.

Boyd Ginnow, partner in the architectural firm of Boettcher & Ginnow, Inc., Neenah, told the committee the addition should be completed by January of 1970.

It will include five new classrooms, an instructional materials center, (IMC) and work and storage areas, he said.

The educational concept of open classrooms will be incorporated into the program at Taft, Business Manager James Clark said. He explained there would be no walls between the rooms, but the walls could be added if necessary.

Base Cost $170,000 Ginnow said the base construction cost at the school is expected to hit $170,000, while it should reach $160,000 for the two story addition at Roosevelt Elementary School.

Ginnow presented the specifications of the Roosevelt addition to the committee and discussed the details of the project with committee members.

Clark said the administration would also study the specifications for about a week and would then direct the architect to bid the project.

The principal features of the expansion will be additional classrooms, an IMC and large kindergarten, Ginnow said.

An audio room on the second floor will also serve as a

Five Injured On Wintry NM Streets

NEENAH-MENASHA — Five persons were advised to seek medical attention for injuries they claimed after three traffic mishaps Friday and early today on snow-slick Twin City Streets.

Two persons were advised to see doctors after the parked car in which they were sitting was struck by a vehicle at 2:13 a.m. Saturday on Tayco Street in Menasha.

Ted Schroeder, 35, 610 Monroe St., Oshkosh, complained of neck injuries, and Del Ernst, 45, Omro, sustained a bump on the back of his head.

They were in a car parked at 12 Tayco Street, police said, when the car was struck by a vehicle driven by Guy Weyenberg, 19, 120 Abbey Ave., Neenah, who was attempting to turn onto Tayco Street from Main Street.

Two drivers reported minor injuries in a two-vehicle collision at 11 p.m. Friday near the intersection of De Pere and Third streets.

Dale R. Collier, 36, 357 Lisbon St., Menasha, sustained a cut in his mouth, and Gladys J. Clark, 45, 2700 Jackson Drive, Oshkosh, complained of a sore back.

Police said the Collier vehicle was southbound on De Pere when it ran into the back end of the Clark car, also southbound on De Pere.

A two-car collision at 4:30 p.m. Friday at Church and Sherry streets in Neenah resulted in minor injuries to a Neenah teen-ager.

Carol J. Nelson, 18, 216½ Oak St., was advised to see a doctor after complaining of a sore neck.

She was in a vehicle driven by Michael F. Spielbauer, 17, Appleton, which police said collided in the intersection with a car driven by Brian R. Cannon, 17, 954 Betty Ave., Neenah, police said.

Condemnation Award $33,250 Price on Pumping Station Site

CHILTON — A Menasha couple has been awarded $33,250 for one acre of Lake Winnebago shoreline property on which the City of Appleton is building a pumping station.

The award, more than twice as much as Appleton had offered for the land, was made this week to the Clem J. Weinands, of 112 Milwaukee St. by the Calumet County Condemnation Commission.

Condemnation proceedings were initiated by the city after the Weinands rejected a jurisdictional offer of $12,000. The offer was made when it was learned that the land would be needed for the pumping station portion of Appleton's $4.5 million project tapping the lake for its municipal water supply.

The station is being built and the hearing was only to determine the amount of compensation.

Two Appleton Realtors and one from Chilton, as well as a Darboy landscape architect and Weinandt testified during the hearing. Appraisals of damages ranged from $13,800 to $55,000.

The tract, was part of a six-acre parcel Weinandt said he hopes to develop for a boat marina and recreational area, and the hearing was only to determine the amount of compensation.

Wienandt claimed the loss of the single acre which reportedly was planned as forested park area along the lake ruined his plans for the marina and recreational area.

Appleton City Atty. David Geenen, representing the City of Appleton, had made a jurisdictional offer of $12,000. Weinandt refused the offer, and the city then started condemnation proceedings in May.

A hearing was ordered by the late Circuit Court Judge Arnold J. Cane, and several postponements delayed action until recently.

The commission determined the fair market value of the entire six-acre tract before arriving at a price for the single acre. Value of the six acres was set at $136,250, the commission ruled, but minus the single acre, this was reduced to $103,000, leaving a $33,250 compensation award.

Both Appleton Realtors appraised the land's fair market value at less than half the award: Elmer Honkamp appraised the six acres at $104,450, the five remaining acres at

Manawa Jaycees To Receive Charter Sunday

MANAWA — The new Jaycee chapter officially will be presented its charter and national affiliation Sunday at Cedar Springs during the charter night banquet.

Speakers on the evening's program will be George Nash, Platteville, Wisconsin Jaycee president; Andre LeTendre, Wausau, U. S. Jaycee vice president; and Don Grow, Beaver Dam, national Jaycee director.

Also attending will be William Wenzel, Waupaca, state vice president; and presidents and officers of the Jaycee chapters in Waupaca, Weyauwega, New London and Clintonville.

Man, 83, Dies Beside Bed of Heart Attack

Walter W. Scott, 83, 1317 W. Prospect Ave., was found dead beside his bed about 8 p.m. Thursday.

Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps, who investigated with Appleton police, said Scott died of a heart attack late Wednesday evening.

Scott, who had a history of heart trouble, was found by his son, Gerald, who said he last talked to his father about 8 p.m. Wednesday. Kemps said Thursday's mail had not been taken in.

Friends may call at the Pfeffer Funeral Home, after 3 p.m. Sunday.

More Jewelry Might Contain Poison Beans

Appleton police have received three more strings of beads that they believe may contain poisonous jewelry beans.

Max Hensel, 1007 E. Glendale Ave., turned over to police Thursday beads he said his wife bought three or four years ago in Jamaica.

Mrs. John Balliet, 2 Brokaw Place, gave police a string of beads she said were bought in Mexico, and Mrs. James Ertl, 1628 S. Wilkie St., brought in beads she said were sent from her mother in Florida.

Detectives said the items would be sent to the State Crime Laboratory for testing.

Many concerned persons have been calling police since Sears, Roebuck and Co. last week issued a recall for jewelry decorated with highly toxic beans, which, if swallowed or chewed may cause death.

The novelty costume jewelry cited in the warnings, was imported from Japan by a New York City firm.

None of the suspicious items turned over to police have been definitely determined to contain the colorful, poisonous beans.

Post Offices Open All Day Saturday; Speed-Up Asked

Post offices in the Fox Cities region will be open until 5 p.m. today. Officials, fearful of a last minute mailing rush, are doing everything possible to expedite handling of Christmas mail and are pleading for public cooperation in early mailing by patrons.

Record stamp sales may well indicate the biggest Christmas rush ever," declared Postmaster Francis Sumnicht of Appleton.

"What we're concerned about is when we're going to get them back on Christmas cards."

This is the end of Christmas Card Mailing Week," and Appleton volume is behind last year's by 513,000 as of Thursday night. Similar reports are obtained from other Fox Cities' Post Offices as well as from the Minneapolis Region's other major offices.

Last year by Dec. 24 Appleton had handled (in the month of December) a record 6,200,000 pieces of mail and parcel post and a 300,000 piece increase is expected this year when the mailings are finally in.

Postmaster Sumnicht urged all Fox Cities to address and mail their greeting cards as soon as possible. All local sorting and deliveries are completely current so far. Be sure your address list is up to date and ZIP coded and be sure to use 6 cent stamps on sealed or unsealed envelopes, he reminds.

Newborn Baby Found in Car Near Outagamie Hospital

"Baby Girl X" continued to fight for her life today in the warm islette at Appleton Memorial Hospital, where she was rushed Friday afternoon after being found nearly lifeless on the front seat of a cold, parked car at Outagamie County Hospital.

An Appleton doctor said the abandoned, newborn baby remains on the critical list, suffering from the effects of severe exposure.

Meanwhile Outagamie County sheriff's investigators continue their search for the first good lead in the third baby abandonment case here in 1 1/2 months. So far, authorities admit they have "almost nothing" in the way of solid leads.

Investigators are continuing to seek information about a "red sports car" that was seen unoccupied in the middle of the county hospital parking lot an hour before the baby was discovered Friday.

Green Blanket

Mrs. Bernice Rasmussen, 1108 Jefferson St., New London, found the naked, newborn infant wrapped in a green blanket on the front seat of her unlocked car.

Mrs. Rasmussen, a nurse's aide at the county hospital for about 10 months, told The Post-Crescent she made the discovery when she got into her car upon leaving work about 3:05 p.m.

"She said she saw the blanket and ... thought one of my kids left it there," she parted it and found the limp body, the umbilical cord still attached. A doctor later told police the other end of the cord appeared to have been "crudely cut."

There was dried blood on the baby's face. Investigators said it appeared the infant had been born in the blanket, but not in Mrs. Rasmussen's car. The New London woman said her car had been there since 6:15 a.m. Friday.

No Sound

Mrs. Rasmussen said the infant made no sound. "I wrapped it up and ran back into the hospital," she explained.

A registered nurse, Mrs. David Pelzl, 3,800 E. Broadway Drive, who has worked at the county hospital only 2 1/2 months, applied mouth to mouth resuscitation after clearing the baby's mouth. "I gave it just a few breaths and it started to whimper," Mrs. Pelzl explained.

When Mrs. Rasmussen brought the baby from outside, where the temperature hovered around 20 degrees, the infant was not breathing, was "blue," and had no detectable pulse, nurses said.

Mrs. Pelzl helped several other nurses wrap the infant in warm towels and "snap" its feet to stimulate circulation. The nurses gave the baby oxygen for about 10 minutes, until an ambulance arrived. They said that by that time, the baby was crying.

A doctor told investigators the baby was born 1 1/2 to two hours before it was admitted to the hospital.

Functioning Poorly

The baby's veins had started to "collapse" and its respiratory system was functioning poorly, the doctor told police.

Recorded at the hospital as "Baby Girl X," the infant is 20 inches long, weighs six pounds, three ounces, and has blue eyes and brown hair.

The doctor said that had the baby remained in the cold car another 15 minutes it probably could not have survived.

Mrs. Rasmussen's car was parked only about 100 yards from the glassed-in front lobby of the county hospital, however, authorities could find no patients or employees who saw anyone near the auto Friday afternoon.

They received information on the red sports car from a man and his wife who said the auto was stopped in the middle of the lot, near Mrs. Rasmussen's auto, about 2 p.m. There was no one around the red car, the couple told authorities.

Check Motels

Undersheriff Calvin L. Spice, Lt. Jack Zuelzke and Investigator George Hanlon began an immediate check of hotels and motels in Appleton area. They said the blanket in which the infant was wrapped appeared to be the type used in motels and hotels. Authorities drew a blank on the check.

They appealed to help from the public, hoping that someone may have seen suspicious activity in the county hospital parking lot Friday afternoon, or may know women they suspect could have had a baby Friday outside a hospital. Anyone having any information that might be pertinent is asked to contact the sheriff's department immediately.

Checks were also planned of hospitals and doctors offices, in hopes of finding information on a woman who may have sought post-natal assistance.

Out of Town

Investigators felt that whoever left the baby might be from out of town. "They may have seen the county hospital from the highway (U.S. 10) and thought it was a regular hospital," Zuelzke explained. Thinking this, he said, the person may have felt the baby would be discovered soon and would be cared for.

Two of the three abandoned baby cases in Outagamie County are unsolved. Authorities still are looking for their first solid lead in the investigation of circumstances surrounding the finding of a dead, newborn infant in a field along County Trunk JJ, two miles north of Kaukauna at noon Oct. 28.

That infant, wrapped in a paper sack, died of exposure.

A second dead baby was found in a field on a route 1, Hortonville farm Nov. 1, belonged to a 20-year-old woman who said she discarded it after it was stillborn, in a bathroom at her parents' farm the night of Oct. 27. She was placed on two years probation in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Dec. 3 after being found guilty of concealing the death of her child.

Claim Filed In Accident

Calumet Board Will Consider $25,000 Suit by Woman

CHILTON — The Calumet County Board of Supervisors will meet at 10 a.m. Tuesday at the courthouse to act on a liability claim against the county in the amount of $25,000 for injuries sustained in a auto accident by Mrs. Frederick Hirtreiter, route 1, New Holstein.

In the claim Mrs. Hirtreiter, 21, said the roadway was improperly marked causing a one-car accident on Aug. 24, about three miles southeast of Hayton on County Trunk T. Mrs. Hirtreiter was a passenger in the car driven by her 23-year-old husband, when it missed a curve and went through a field and hit an embankment. Four other persons in the auto with the Hirtreiters also sustained injuries.

The board also is expected to act on a resolution adopting the recommendations of the salary committee and a resolution for the purchase of a end-loader by the highway department.

Calumet County Coroner Leroy Hughes also will give his annual report and there will be committee reports.

More than $2,700 was taken during an early morning burglary at Alex's Crown, 2318 S. Oneida St.

The burglary was discovered by a cleaning woman about 2:30 a.m. Friday. Milton Arps, owner of the southside supper club, said he closed about 12:45 a.m.

Appleton detectives, who returned to the scene about mid-morning, said entry into the building apparently was gained through a 12 by 24-inch east basement window that had been left slightly ajar to allow ventilation to a basement storage room.

Small Person

Detectives said it appeared a small person or persons entered the supper club.

A two-foot square, 200-pound safe, containing about $1,250 in change plus an undetermined amount of other money, was taken from a basement office.

Office desk drawers were ransacked and bank deposit bags containing more than $800 were taken. An undetermined amount of change was taken from cigar and cigarette vending machines that were pried open. Another $640 was taken from a cash register and cash drawer in the bar area.

A box of cigars and a partially-consumed bottle of whiskey, taken from the barroom, were left in the dining room.

Having Car Out of Control Admitted In Waupaca

WAUPACA — John D. Peterson, 18, route 4, Waupaca, charged with failure to have his car under control after it struck a utility pole on S. State Street Dec. 1, pleaded guilty Thursday when he appeared in Municipal Justice Court.

Justice George Whalen ordered that Peterson pay a $50 fine plus costs. Peterson sustained facial injuries and his car was extensively damaged.

New Super Highway East of Lake Winnebago Okayed

North-South Route Expected Near State 57; Completion Set for Sometime After 1975

Federal funding for a new four-lane highway between Milwaukee and Green Bay over the new route, he said, will be about 25 miles east side of Lake Winnebago has been approved by the U. S. Department of Transportation.

The 104.8 mile interstate link would cost an estimated $92.5 million of which the federal government would pay 90 percent.

G. H. Bakke, secretary of Wisconsin's Department of Transportation, said the highway would be completed sometime after 1975.

A specific route for the new freeway has not been determined, according to Bakke. However, in the state's request for federal funds, a route basically following existing State 57 Friday morning about seven miles east of here on State 54.

John T. Piontek, 26, route 1, Green Bay, the driver, told county traffic police he was pulling onto the shoulder of the road where he was going to stop and rest when the right wheels of the truck got too far off the road and went down the embankment. The truck rolled onto its right side.

Piontek escaped injury in the mishap which occurred at about 4 a.m. The truck was loaded with parcels which were transferred to another truck before the overturned vehicle was righted by two heavy duty wreckers.

Man Hospitalized After Memory Loss in Crash

Peter G. Zanzig, 24, 627 S. Mueller St., was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital about 12:30 a.m. today when he complained of a head injury suffered when his car struck a tree in front of 1014 W. Prospect Avenue.

Appleton police said that Zanzig told them he could recall nothing about the accident, nor could he remember his name. His car was westbound on Prospect Avenue when it left the street and struck a tree on the terrace.

Sitter Won't Preside Over Trial of Students

OSHKOSH — Winnebago County Judge James V. Sitter change of venue. He sought the disqualification Thursday change Dec. 2, but it was denied from hearing the cases of black by Sitter who said the district Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh students arrested during the Nov. 21 campus demonstration.

Sitter announced his ruling after affidavits of prejudice were filed against him by Lloyd Barbee, Milwaukee assemblyman and attorney. Barbee, who spoke for 87 of the students Thursday, had made a motion for the affidavits Dec. 2 when the students appeared before Sitter. However, the judge had delayed accepting the affidavits, indicating they were presented improperly.

Circuit Court

The cases were ordered transferred to Circuit Court Dec. 2, and if affidavits had not been filed, Sitter could have been appointed acting Circuit Court judge for the students' trials. The actual transfer took place Thursday but no dates have been set for further criminal proceedings.

Barbee had claimed Dec. 2 Monday. Sixteen of the students arrested are represented by other attorneys while seven are juveniles.

After the Thursday hearing, Sitter approached Barbee's defense counsel table, shook hands with the Milwaukee assemblyman and said "it has been a pleasure working with you."

Ideals Essential' Objector Can Avoid Society's Wrath

It's possible for a man to simultaneously be a member of an establishment and a constructive revolutionary, a Methodist minister told a continuing education class at the Fox Valley Campus Friday.

Speaking on "Social Upheaval" was the Rev. Roger Bourland, Green Bay, the fourth and final speaker in a series on the problems young adults encounter today.

"It's not impossible to be both a respected member of society and try to right some of the wrongs," he said, citing Pope John, Sen. Eugene McCarthy and Sen. Edmund Muskie as examples.

In a speech that digressed from regular discussions of social upheaval, the clergyman painted an oral picture of what a true revolutionary with honest ideals should be like.

Clear Conscience

"First and foremost, you have to have a clear conscience; you have to know that what you are saying is truly opposing things that are wrong," the Rev. Mr. Bourland said. "When a person sees something malignant, he should stand up to what he believes, no matter what the cost," he added.

The person also must be practical, choosing goals that can be accomplished, or he is wasting time, the speaker said.

He must be sensitive to human suffering but at the same time have self-satisfaction from what he does, he added.

He must ask himself certain questions before he gets involved, the Rev. Mr. Bourland said.

"Where is the seat of power that I'm trying to get to — who are the people that can change that wrong," the minister said.

"Often the revolutionary's problem is he is wasting his time making noise, not getting to those who hold the power," he added.

The Rev. Bourland also questioned which structures can be reformed.

"There are some things that hardly any of us can reform," he said, "such as the Vatican, the Teamsters, and the Kremlin." They are so deeply entrenched in tradition that only those at the top and within their own system can change them and only if they take the opportune moment to do so.

Be sure to understand both sides, he cautioned, and ask yourself, "what allies do I need and who needs me as an ally." It would only be a waste of time, and effort if your voice or participation carried no power in a cause, he said.

Bad Label

In short, the speaker explained, when "you get labeled as a flaming liberal who disrupts things, your influence is over."

The clergyman, who has been involved in various causes in Green Bay and has spoken out against some issues, remarked on some picture of revolutionaries.

"What many of these people don't realize is that just because they are good leaders in changing the world, doesn't mean they necessarily are good administrators," he said, citing Castro.

Embarrassment, he said, often is a better tool to combat social ills. "And waiting for stupid mistakes is a lengthy process but once they are done, you've won," he added.

"But always make certain," the minister warned, "that you are aware that even in fair revolution, there is a necessity of a crucifixion."

If Others Are Expelled or Flunk Out

Remaining Blacks May Withdraw

OSHKOSH — Negro students suspended black students' cases. State University campus and their parents informed the school's administration Friday that they would leave the university if the 94 suspended students were expelled or flunked out.

The 25 Negroes paraded into a crowded convocation at Albee Hall to present their ultimatum. It was first of two orderly convocations Friday on the cases of students suspended after the Nov. 21 black student demonstration in the university's administration building.

In the second convocation, faculty and students also paraded to the head table to protest the format of the meeting. They called for an open forum discussion allowing debate from the floor.

As both groups marched out a total of about 2,200 students attending the convocations stood to give standing ovations but there were no serious disruptions.

200 Walked Out

About 200 students walked out during the first part of the second meeting, apparently in protest to the administration's answers to questions submitted to them in advance by students.

The convocations were called by the State Senate and the University Forum, an organization of students, faculty and administrators, in an attempt to improve communications with students on the handling of the grades for any or all first semester courses.

The effect of these recommendations, Field said, would be to allow black students to remain in school regardless of their first semester academic standings and to salvage some of their work in first semester courses.

President Guiles gave the students strong assurances that he would approve the grading recommendations.

Guiles set the tone for the meeting by stating that the university could not be run by "mob rule or no rule at all."

He said a university must be run through orderly processes without fear of intimidation or violence. He pointed out that WSU-O is a public university supported by society as a whole and that students come to the university voluntarily. When they do so they must accept its rules, he said. He cited a federal district court decision on an incident similar to the Nov. 21 vandalism spree at WSU-O.

The court said the university imposes much higher obligations on the students than civil and criminal law.

Guiles said the state universities board of regents had taken jurisdiction of the black students' cases because their violence and subsequent suspensions were a matter of statewide concern, because the uni-

Jury Acquits Tijerina of Kidnaping

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Raul Lopez Tijerina, militant leader of a land grant claims group, was acquitted Friday of charges in the shooting and violence at a rural courthouse.

The 43-year-old Tijerina said he plans now to pursue his land grant claims "more than ever."

Dist. Atty. Alfonso Sanchez said he had made no decision about whether to try Tijerina on seven other charges involving the violence at the Tierra Amarilla courthouse June 5, 1967. And Sanchez gave no indication whether nine followers of Tijerina who face similar charges would go to trial.

"I feel great," said Tijerina, after his five-week trial in State District Court. "I think we had the best jury New Mexico has ever had."

Tijerina was tried on charges of kidnaping and false imprisonment of a deputy sheriff and an assault on a jail during the gun-shot violence at the Tierra Amarilla courthouse.

While testifying that he had no part in the violence, Tijerina said the "Tierra Amarilla explosion" resulted from built-up frustrations of his Spanish-American followers over their land-grant claims.

The state had asked for a first-degree kidnaping conviction, which carries a penalty of death in the state's gas chamber.

Tijerina, 42, a native of Texas and former evangelical preacher, came to New Mexico to form the Alliance of Free City States. The group contends Spanish and Mexican land grants of a century ago were taken by deceit and fraud from ancestors and the land should belong to them.

Two law enforcement officers were wounded, a deputy sheriff and a newsman were taken hostage and several persons were beaten during the two hours a small band of armed men held the courthouse, according to trial testimony.

Son of Former Congressman May Seek Seat

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Hyde Murray, son of the late former Wisconsin congressman Reid F. Murray, may become a candidate for the seat to be vacated by Rep. Melvin R. Laird. The Milwaukee Journal said Friday in a dispatch from its Washington Bureau.

Murray, 38, is a member of the staff and Republican counsel on the House Agriculture Committee. The Journal said he plans to return to the district this weekend to sound out his chances.

Laird, nominated by President-elect Nixon to be secretary of defense, has represented Wisconsin's 7th Congressional District in the House since 1952. The elder Murray, who died at the age of 63 in April of that year, was Laird's immediate predecessor.

Hyde Murray has not lived in the district since 1954 when he returned from Army service in Okinawa and Korea. His mother is in a nursing home at Iola and the family owns property in Waupaca County. He said he had been informed that a congressman must be a resident of a Wisconsin district for six months before he can be sworn in.

Nixon Concerned Little With Negro, Abernathy Says

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy has vowed that "as long as there is breath in my body, I will be there knocking on the walls of Richard Nixon's house saying 'Let my people go.'"

The head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference accused President-elect Nixon the past week of failing to understand the nation's racial problems. But Abernathy said he intended to impart understanding to Nixon.

Abernathy delivered the annual James J. Reeb memorial lecture at the Princeton Theological Seminary. Reeb, a graduate of the seminary, was killed during a civil rights protest in Selma, Ala., in 1965.

"We have elected as our president a man whose record in the California legislature and the U.S. Congress does not convince us that he is concerned" with the problems of Negroes, Abernathy said. He added that Nixon did not "appear to understand those problems."

Crackdown Begins Brazil's Military Chiefs Suspend Constitution

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Armed with sweeping new powers, the military-dominated government of President Arthur da Costa e Silva today began massive crackdown on its opposition.

Congress was given an indefinite vacation, censors moved into newspaper offices and police began making widespread arrests. Among the first reported in custody were a former president, a federal deputy and some journalists.

Former President Juscelino Kubitschek, who was stripped of his political rights and ousted from the Senate in 1964, was arrested at the municipal theater where he had been attending a graduation ceremony.

Oswaldo Peralva, superintendent of the opposition newspaper Correio da Manhã was arrested in his office after police shot open a door to gain entry to the newspaper building Friday.

Four censors occupied the Correio da Manhã offices and others moved into Rio's other newspapers. There were unconfirmed reports that opposition publisher Helio Fernandez also was taken in custody, and that opposition deputy Helio Navarro had been arrested in Sao Paulo.

The government crackdown began Friday night minutes after Costa e Silva and his Cabinet signed a new institutional act overriding the 22-month-old Brazilian constitution.

The act, effective immediately with no terminal date, allows the president to strip any Brazilian of his political rights; declare a stage of seige; and seize the assets of those who "illegally enrich themselves in public office." It also suspends the writ of habeas corpus for anyone charged with "crimes against national security."

The latter provision is expected to result in the rearrest of students and government opposition leaders recently sprung from jail.

The government said the act was issued because of "revolutionary war" being waged by persons "unwilling to understand" the movement that brought Brazil's military-backed regime to power in 1964.

No Way to Arrive at a Budget

Appleton's experience with the mayor's first executive budget has been exasperating to say the least.

From the outset, there has been confusion and inconsistency in the preparation of this most important document. These elements, which belied clear public understanding of the mayor's budget, lingered right up to the time the document was approved last week.

Lack of understanding by the public, the aldermen and the fiscal control board may have seriously prejudiced action on both the city and school budgets.

The budget process suffered serious breakdowns at a number of points:

*Mayor George Buckley repeatedly pronounced that expenditures in all city departments would be held to six per cent increases. Yet he and his finance director never publicly squared the figures in the budget with this pronouncement.

In fact, the League of Women Voters, American Association of University Women and Appleton Taxpayers Association all presented identical figures showing much greater increases in city department outlays and total city purpose outlays. These figures never were adequately refuted.

*When the mayor made his budget cuts, a number of city department heads never were consulted. Other department heads were left in confusion about which items had been cut.

*The mayor never gave an indication how his $1 million school budget cut could be accomplished and he refused the Appleton Board of Education's sincere request for a thorough, rational look at the budget in a working session with the fiscal control board.

*The city finance committee virtually rubber-stamped the mayor's proposed budget. Perhaps some members were motivated by a desire to hang the mayor with his own budget.

*There was no honest attempt by the mayor or the city finance director to communicate continual revisions in the preliminary budget as the revisions became available. As a result, aldermen and representatives of civic organizations — as it later turned out — were nearly impotent to make clear analyses of the budget and issue realistic recommendations. These civic organizations spent hundreds of hours in analyzing inaccurate and inadequate figures.

*The announcement of significant revenue increases and expenditure reductions due to budgeting errors at the last hour before council action was unfortunate — if not intentional. It is conceivable that $500,000 might not have been cut from the school budget had these figures been known 24 hours earlier.

And most of the figures were available 24 hours earlier.

It is also conceivable that further cuts in the city budget might have been made had the adjustment not been such a shocking surprise.

It is apparent that the executive budget procedure was in some ways misused by the mayor.

It is also apparent that the city finance committee failed in its obligation to hold thorough hearings on expenditures with city department heads and the public present.

The city administration and the city council must begin now to plan more reasonable budgeting procedures for next year.

Can New Foods Avert the Famine?

Despite some widespread efforts at disseminating birth control information and devices and education in family planning, it is now estimated that the world's population will double within the next thirty years. With more than 6 billion people on earth — the great majority in poor countries — there have been dire predictions of widespread famine.

But at least there are also a great many efforts today to develop low cost, high protein foods.

The soybean, originally from China, is currently the most popular food used to increase the availability of protein. It is now the second largest farm crop in the United States and probably some 300 million pounds of soy flour will be used in food products this year. Several American companies are producing meat substitutes and imitations and the soy filaments can be transformed into imitation beef, pork, scallops and nuts. The soybean is also being used to produce a number of soft drinks and candy. It has value too because it does not run counter to the food taboos and eating prejudices in many of the underdeveloped nations.

Fish flour is also being used, especially for its amino acid content, in connection with rice, soybeans and wheat flour. The United States Food and Drug Administration recently lifted its ban on human consumption of fish flour which we had been urging upon the people of the poorer nations. Standard Oil Company and Nestle Alimentana of Switzerland are also experimenting with the development of a high protein powder from micro-organisms such as yeasts, bacteria, algae and fungi grown in oxygen-enriched solutions of hydrocarbons derived from petroleum. The plans so far are to use the powder for animal consumption, thereby making available more grains for people. And in England there is an experimental prototype machine which reportedly can extract 40 pounds of pure protein from a ton of clover, wheat or mustard leaves.

There are also new methods being used to preserve foods longer. Freeze-drying has proven to be successful in retaining flavor, color and texture. Fresh fruits and vegetables remain fresh much longer when stored in the controlled atmospheres of specially built trailer trucks from which the oxygen can be pumped. Experiments with irradiated food have been suspended by the United States Army until further experiments with animals have been completed but this may also be an area of future preservation.

But will the success of such experiments be in time to save millions from starvation?

Aspirin as a Campaign Expense

Footnotes normally are avoided by readers of books, many of whom operate with the assumption that if the author did not think the information important enough to place in the text they did not have to bother with it. But footnotes at times can furnish an interesting insight which adds to the understanding of the subject.

Such a footnote to the recent election appeared the other day when an Indiana man submitted an itemized list showing how he had spent a little over $400 in his unsuccessful campaign for county commissioner. Included in the list were expenses for three large bottles of aspirin, 125 cups of coffee drunk by persons listening to the candidate, repair of the seats of three pairs of pants torn while climbing barbed wire fences to shake hands with farmers and a can of ointment for a burned finger suffered while frying pancakes at a rally.

Itemizations such as these probably will not make many, if any, textbooks dealing with the 1968 election. Yet they also tell a story of American politics and of the human element which makes life interesting.

True Education Begins at Home

Editor, The Post-Crescent:

After reading the article in The Post-Crescent Nov. 24, regarding the high school student finding fault with the mayor's attempt to cut the school budget, and blaming the older generation for the situation that we are now in, I thought back about 70 years ago, when we walked a mile through snow and slush to a one room country school that was heated with a wood stove at one end of the room. The plumbing was on the outside about 200 ft. from the building, and we all drank water out of the same rusty tin cup that was tied to a large hand pump with a hay wire, to keep it from blowing away.

When I see the way our school systems are being operated today, I would like to remind the Lad from the High School, as my Granddaddy would say, that the old generations have come a long way, and deserve a lot of credit. In the student's story, he asks the question, I quote, "What is more important to the future of the world than the education of our youth?" When we read the youth's story and read about what has taken place in our neighboring city of Oshkosh, at least some of us cannot help but wonder if our education has been as efficient as it could be, and if it could not be possible that we have gone beyond the point of diminishing returns.

Gov. Romney of Michigan once said that "education begins at home." We wonder if in many cases our education has had the right foundation or beginning; if our children have been taught in their homes to recognize authority and common decency, and the rights of others. Much more can be said, but space will not permit. I think I am safe in saying that when the time comes in our Great Society that a few labor leaders can cripple the economy of the entire nation, and the students can close our state supported schools, it is high time that we watch our step, and appreciate

Governors' Conference Solidly In Support of GOP Chairman Bliss

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — An unofficial visitor at the Republican national governors' conference returns to his desk with the profound conviction that Richard Nixon, or his advisers, made an egregious error of judgment when they permitted the story to leak out that

Bliss showed their support of him without possibility of misconstruction.

Events intervening between the writing and publishing of this report may show this reporter in error, but at the moment it seems almost certain that the Nixon staff will take the blunt hints from Palm Springs to mean what they clearly intended to mean — that Bliss ought to stay if he wants to stay.

The veteran politician from Ohio is obviously too proud to say that he wants to stay. But it is plain enough from the fact that he has not said he is willing to quit, in spite of considerable provocation. As a professional and a party loyalist, he is also aware of the tradition amounting virtually to a rule that a new president can put at the head of the party apparatus that man whom he chooses and the national committee will accede to his wishes, whatever private feelings it may have.

GOOD POLITICAL MECHANIC

Ray Bliss is a plain, sometimes taciturn appearing man, but the political mechanic par excellence. His painstaking construction of the party apparatus in Ohio, going back to the days of the late Sen. Robert Taft of that state, is one of the most often told stories among the pros of his party. It was in that period that Bliss made his first important acquaintances in Wisconsin in connection with the Taft bid for the presidential nomination, which got the support of the Wisconsin party, but failed in the historic confrontation with Gen. Eisenhower at Chicago.

But Bliss is not the ideologue. He is the architect. He is not an effective speaker, but does not regard his role as that of making or uttering policy, but of fitting the "nuts and bolts" in the colloquialism of the organization politician, in such a way that the party can win. Bliss took over a broken party after the Goldwater debacle of 1964. This year he led a party machine that won, slenderly, indeed, but won nevertheless. To suggest that such a man should now be sacked, however the method is disguised, is ironic at best, and reckless and ungrateful at worst, as the governors at Palm Springs with the almost certain backing of their own state party chairmen were saying obliquely.

NIXON HAS IMAGE PROBLEM

Somebody has said that Mr. Nixon would prefer — or thought that he preferred before these warnings from the local party leadership — a national chairman who projects a better "image," in the jargon of the times, presumably a younger, more handsome and more articulate man. There is irony here too, when Mr. Nixon's whole career is considered.

One of the president elect's enduring problems during a career in and out of office

Communist Ranks Thinned In Australia

MELBOURNE (AP) — Communist Party membership in Australia has dropped from 25,000 to 5,000 in the last 20 years, according to the vice president of the Australian Communist Party, John Sundry. Sundry told a political science society meeting at Melbourne University that the Communist Party had failed to attract any section of the younger generation.

Problems in Communist countries throughout the world over the past 10 years, he said, had forced the Australian Communist Party to begin a serious examination of its policies and theories.

extending more than 20 years relates to "image." Every political reporter can testify to the scores of times he has interviewed voters during campaign seasons in 1960 and 1968 and found persons who didn't like him, and appeared reluctant to vote for him even when they described themselves as Republicans, but were unable to identify the reasons precisely. Mr. Nixon has had an "image" problem too.

Quoted from the Appleton Post for Dec. 24, 1968.

WRIGHTSTOWN — The Traveler's Home is a German house started two years ago by the present proprietor, Mr. John Hein.

Every comfort is paid the guests; and the stable is furnished with the best of hay. He keeps always on hand liquors of all kinds and cigars of the best brand. He is a pleasant little fellow and cannot fail of success.

Clark House, which forms my headquarters at present, is situated close to the railway

Every requisite for comfort can be found in this house. No pains have been spared by the enterprising and agreeable landlord to make it a first-class boarding house. The meals are served up in excellent style reflecting great credit on the hostess of the house.

BY CARL P. LEUBSDORF

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic majority in the House narrowed slightly in a very stable 1968 election that saw only 14 seats change hands.

Democrats wound up with a majority of 243 to 192, a net loss of four seats over the outgoing 80th Congress. It was the eighth time Democrats had won House Control.

The results contrasted sharply with the 1964 results, when Democrats gained 37 seats, and the 1966 election, where Republicans picked up 48.

NINE INCUMBENT LOSE

The small turnover also shows in the fact that only nine incumbent House members were defeated for reelection, four in races where reapportionment threw two members into the same district.

In Ohio, Democratic Rep. Charles Vanik defeated 83-year-old Republican Rep. Frances Bolton in a suburban Cleveland district. In Oklahoma, Democratic Rep. Tom Steed defeated Republican Rep. James V. Smith. In North Carolina, GOP Rep. James T. Broyhill defeated Democratic Rep. Basil Whitener, and in Indiana, Republican Rep. E. Ross Adair defeated Democratic Rep. J. Edward Roush.

Republicans won the new districts created by these confrontations in Oklahoma, North Carolina and Indiana, while Democrats won the one in Ohio.

In New Mexico, both Democratic incumbents were defeated. Manuel Lujan Jr. unseated Rep. Thomas G. Morris and former Texas Rep. Ed Foreman defeated Rep. E. S. Johnny Walker. New Mexico chose congressional districts for the first time, instead of choosing congressmen at large.

The other incumbents defeated were Democratic Reps. Herve G. Machen of Maryland, defeated by Larry Hogan; John G. Dow of New York, unseated by Martin B. McKeenly; and Donald J. Irwin of Connecticut, who lost to Lowell P. Weicker Jr.

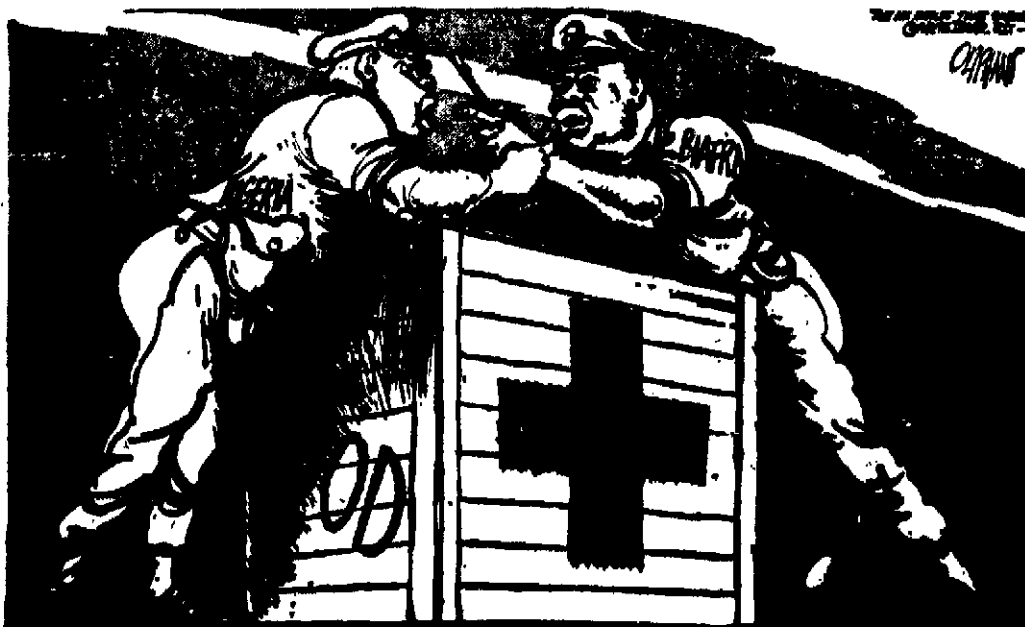

FISH IS WINNER

Republicans also captured the New York seat being surrendered by Democratic Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick, but lost seats being given up by GOP Reps. Theodore R. Kupperman and Paul Fino. The winners in those races were Republican Hamilton Fish Jr. and Democrats Edward J. Koch and Mario Biaggi.

In Virginia, Republicans picked up the seat of retiring Democrat Porter Hardy Jr., when GOP candidate G. William Whitehurst defeated Democrat Frederick T. Stant Jr.

Democrats picked up seats of retiring Republicans in Missouri and West Virginia. James Symington, son of Sen. Stuart Symington, won the seat of Rep. Thomas B. Curtis of Missouri, while Robert Molohan won the seat of Arch A. Moore Jr., elected governor of West Virginia.

As a result of the election, Democrats retain majorities in House delegations of 26 states. Republicans added one, New Mexico, for a total of 19, while Maryland and Virginia became evenly divided to join Oregon, Montana and Illinois.

Area Well Supplied With Programs on Yuletide Theme; All Open to Public, Free

BY JINGO
Everyone now can sing "Jingle Bells" and mean it. The first real snow, blowy weather Friday set the scene along with the season's decorations along the main streets. Now come all the Christmas programs that always have been excellent in years past, so probably will be again.

The list which has been announced is only a partial one and does not include the exceptional church choir programs throughout the Christmas season nor all the school concerts of the area.

Sunday night the music department at Xavier High School presents its annual concert at 8 p.m. in the school Gymnasium. Conducting the 85-member chorus will be Zi Hyung Sa.

There's a surprise in store for listeners at this concert. Several members of Appleton MacDowell Chorus will be on hand for the last number on the program, one which all MacDowellers have sung many times. It's the beautiful "Hallelujah" chorus from The Messiah — they are performing with the high schoolers to help swell the sound.

The Xavier students performed for Appleton Kiwanis this week and it's to their credit that not a member stirred from his chair at the usual 1:30 p.m. time to leave. They all stayed to hear the last fragment of song.

Also scheduled for Sunday night — so there will have to be a choice made between two fine groups of singers — is the Fox Valley Lutheran High School concert at 8 p.m. in the FVL Auditorium. The 79-voice choir, under the direction of Gerhard Roloff, will sing the program which has become traditional with the Lutheran school. It's built around the story of the birth of Jesus and this year includes favorite carols such as "Away in a Manger" and "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear," as well as less known but equally beautiful Christmas songs such as "Deep Within the Stable, Mary Sweetly Sings." Miss Gloria Blumreich is accompanist for the group.

Monday at 7:30 p.m., Appleton High School-West will give its annual Christmas concert by members of the music department and its teaching staff. The chorus work will be directed by Lester Schulz, while the concert band will go through its paces under the competent baton of Ivan Spangenberg, and the orchestra will be conducted by John Slagle.

This trio of musical organizations long has been noted for its holiday concerts through the years. It's not "just a bunch of kids" getting a chance to perform for a captured audience of parents and relatives, but a very real community performance worth attending for its musicianship.

St. Norbert College presentation of "Ahmahl and the Night

Visitors" Thursday, Dec. 19, at 8:25 p.m., this year combines with a Bach Christmas cantata, traditional carols and a special treat, an original work by the Rev. Robert A. Stromovsky.

Like the others, the concert under the direction of Prof. Dudley D. Birder, is free and open to the public. The Gian-Carlo Menotti opera, which has become a Christmas standard since first performed on Television Christmas Eve of 1961, will be stylized in costumeing at St. Norbert. John Schneider is doing the choreography; Miss Constance Jane Speake, assistant professor of music, the piano accompaniment.

Thursday night also marks the 8 p.m. concert of the orchestra and chorus at Appleton High School-East. The holiday concert will be in the school auditorium with Mrs. Evelyn Wilke conducting the orchestra and Miss Fran Bubolz the chorus. This program will bring out the old and the new of the Christmas season in song and music.

Next Friday night, the Fox Valley campus Christmas concert will present an ambitious program in the Fine Arts Theater on Midway Road. The combined choruses of the Fox Valley and Green Bay campuses of the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay will perform under the direction of Prof. Frank Doverspike, but the featured part of the evening will be Creston's "Missa Solemnis" with two area soloists performing. Concert time is 8:15 p.m. and the UW-Fox Valley campus' traditional carol-sing held by the Student Senate will be held in the cafeteria after the program.

'Schnozzola' Plays Host on 'Palace' Show

BY TV SCOUT

8:30-9:30 — Channel 11 — The Hollywood Palace has a little bit of many things and quite a lot of its host, Jimmy Durante. Jimmy gets into most of the acts but has the best time with Ethel Merman. She sings "This Is My Lucky Day" and "By The Time I Get To Phoenix" and joins Durante for "You Are Woman, I Am Man" from "Funny Girl."

4:5-5:30 — Channel 11 — Live coverage from San Remo, Italy, of the 15-round world middle-weight championship fight between title holder Nino Benvenuti of Italy and Don Fullmer of Utah, is the feature on today's Wide World of Sports. Howard Cosell will call the action.

7:30-8 — Channel 5 — On The Ghost and Mrs. Muir, Captain Gregg tries to induce some old world romanticism. The Captain has persuaded Carolyn to spend a few minutes with him at the close of each day with a glass of madeira and some light conversation.

8:30-9 — Channel 2 — A woman's, and particularly a mother's, intuition is not to be taken lightly, as Pettecoat Junction proves. Betty Jo would like a night out but doesn't want to leave the baby. Steve finally gets her to agree when he lines up Bobbie Joe, Uncle Joe and Dr. Craig as baby sitters. But two of the trio are called out and you know who is left with little Kathy Jo.

9-10 — Channel 2 — Although the cast of Mannix is "veddy, veddy" British, the kicker is an Episcopalian priest who is very, very hippie. In fact, it should be noted that the producers didn't go ahead with that sequence until they secured the approval of the Episcopalian church. The story is a simple murder mystery with Mannix in a helicopter spotting a body on a penthouse. The body disappears when he checks it out.

6:30-7 — Channel 5 — Adam

What to Do — Where to Go

Appleton Theater — King Kong Escapes at 8:30 and 9:40. Who's Minding the Mint at 4:40 and 8:10.

Viking Theater — World Safari at 3:40, 5:50, 8 p.m. and 10 p.m.

Plaza Theater, Oshkosh — World Safari at 7 p.m. and 9:15.

Time Theater, Oshkosh — Gone with the Wind at 1:30 and 8 p.m.

Christmas Marionette Show — All Saints Marionettes in performance today at 1 p.m., 2:30 and 4 p.m.; Sunday at 2 p.m. and 3:30. All Saints Episcopal Church, Appleton.

Kimberly High Drama — Look Homeward Angel, Sunday at 8 p.m., Kermit Heckert directing, Kimberly High School.

Appleton YMCA Concert —

12 departs slightly from its usual format to concentrate on one subject, narcotics. In one segment, the officers check a complaint from a woman about her neighbors. Their investigation turns up a hippie hangout and a teen-age girl in critical condition from an overdose.

7-7:30 — Channel 5 — Get Smart was filmed aboard the aircraft carrier USS Yorktown and is one of the better episodes of the season. Max and the Chief are called up by their naval reserve unit, with Max an officer and the Chief a yeoman. Once aboard, they become aware of a KAOS plot on the mainland.

7:30-8 — Channel 2 — When Uncle Charley is jilted by a waitress girl-friend on My Three Sons, he suddenly gets romance conscious and goes on the prowl. He comes up with the perfect play as well, taking the triplets for a walk. The youngsters snare the ladies by the dozen.

Morse, Packwood Claim Victory as Recount Begins

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Both sides forecast victory with 10 of 36 counties reported in after the first day of Oregon's U.S. senatorial election recount.

The recounted votes showed Sen. Wayne Morse, the 24-year Senate veteran who asked for the recount, has lost 22 votes compared to the Nov. 5 total. Republican Robert Packwood, who defeated Morse by 3,445 votes in November, had lost 19 votes.

A spokesman for Morse said there were a number of substantive challenges to the counting of the ballots Friday.

Packwood supporters claimed the recount would confirm the Nov. 5 results with "incredible accuracy."

The totals then were 408,825 for Packwood and 405,380 for Morse.

Menasha's '69 Budget Approved for Hearing

MENASHA — After making a minor technical change carrying no dollar and cents effect on the tax rate, the finance committee left the proposed 1969 city budget in the hands of the accountants Friday night.

Harry Kind, former city clerk, will assemble the revised budget for presentation Tuesday at 6 p.m. before a public hearing in the common council chamber.

The common council meets Monday at 7 p.m. for a regular meeting as a committee, but further changes in the budget are believed unlikely to be made then.

During three marathon sessions this week, the finance committee and most of the rest of the council managed to whack more than $300,000 off the original proposal published a week ago today.

The effect is to drop the proposed net tax rate on each $1,000 of property, at assessed value, from an original level of $61.57 to a rate in the neighborhood of $55. If approved, the new rate would be slightly more than $6 above last year's.

The actual amount won't be calculated until Kind, working as a special consultant this year following his retirement, has revised the budget according to changes made by aldermen this week.

The only change proposed by Kind and accepted by the finance committee Friday was a bookkeeping change in the manner of deleting a $201,000 contingency fund that had been proposed to hold city-purpose taxes from the Banta and Schwarzbauer annexation areas.

The finance committee also authorized City Atty. Richard Steffens to draft a partial salary ordinance for next year, leaving out employees represented by unions still negotiating with the city. The ordinance also will be acted upon by the council Tuesday following the hearing on the city and joint school district budgets and taxes.

Five Injured On Wintry NM Streets

NEENAH-MENASHA — Five persons were advised to seek medical attention for injuries they claimed after three traffic mishaps Friday and early today on snow-slick Twin City Streets.

Two persons were advised to see doctors after the parked car in which they were sitting was struck by a vehicle at 2:13 a.m. Saturday on Tayco Street in Menasha.

Ted Schroeder, 35, 610 Monroe St., Oshkosh, complained of neck injuries, and Del Ernst, 45, Omro, sustained a bump on the back of his head.

They were in a car parked at 12 Tayco Street, police said, when the car was struck by a vehicle driven by Guy Weyenberg, 19, 120 Abbey Ave., Neenah, who was attempting to turn onto Tayco Street from Main Street.

Two drivers reported minor injuries in a two-vehicle collision at 11 p.m. Friday near the intersection of De Pere and Third streets.

Dale R. Collier, 36, 357 Lisbon St., Menasha, sustained a cut in his mouth, and Gladys J. Clark, 45, 2790 Jackson Drive, Oshkosh, complained of a sore back.

Police said the Collier vehicle was southbound on De Pere when it ran into the back end of the Clark car, also southbound on De Pere.

A two-car collision at 4:30 p.m. Friday at Church and Sherry streets in Neenah resulted in minor injuries to a Neenah teen-ager.

Carol J. Nelson, 18, 216½ Oak St., was advised to see a doctor after complaining of a sore neck.

She was in a vehicle driven by Michael F. Spielbauer, 17, Appleton, which police said collided in the intersection with a car driven by Brian R. Cannon, 17, 954 Betty Ave., Neenah, police said.

Filling Vacant Post Delayed

MENASHA — A successor to Fourth Ward Ald. Robert Probst probably will be chosen and installed in office after the common council votes Tuesday on the 1969 city budget and new tax rate.

Aldermen reached the conclusion informally during discussion of the budget Thursday night.

Ald. Walter Rimmel told the eight other aldermen at the session he disapproved of having a new alderman voting on the budget without having helped prepare it.

Probst's resignation takes effect Sunday. He has accepted a job in Pennsylvania.

Ald. Richard Heindl will be the Fourth Ward's representative when the budget and tax levy come up for adoption.

There are two aldermanic posts for each of the city's six wards.

"Many Moons," a play to be staged by both St. Mary and Banta Elementary school children, Menasha, concerns a little girl who wants a moon for Christmas. The play will be directed by Marguerite Van Hulst, instructor at Banta. The children, in the back row from left, are Gail Schmidt, Becky Schommer, Jeannie Rausch and Richie Ann Golembiewski. In the front row are Ellen Schoultz, Nancy Gibson, Jim Hebel, Joe Gamsky and Kathy Nelson. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Nursing Home Case

County Zoning System Questioned

OSHKOSH — A petition to reclassify a parcel of land off Midway Road in the Town of Menasha, if approved Tuesday by the county board, will change zoning for nursing homes, hospitals and sanatoria throughout the county.

It has also reopened review of the need for a third zoning classification for multiple housing, fourplexes and apartments.

The Town of Menasha petitioned last week to place hospitals, sanatoria and nursing homes under the county Residential B zoning classification. This change will take the three types of construction out of the agricultural zoning classification in which they now fall.

"This will give us more control of what is being built and can be built in the Town of Menasha," explained Roland Kampe, town chairman.

Most in Town

The Town of Menasha has almost all of the estimated 50 to 55 acres in the county which could be opened for this type construction, according to Carl Mailahn, zoning officer.

The parcel of land in question, located on Midway Road between the Boy Scout Council building and Our Redeemer Lutheran Church, is now classified Residential B. A new 117-bed nursing home is to be built and operated as a skilled nursing facility by the owner of the Rose Nursing Home in Kaukauna.

Two methods of clearing the way for this construction were open to the Town of Menasha board—petition to rezone the parcel to be used, or petition for a change opening up restriction on all available land zoned Residential B. They chose the latter method.

There was no objection voiced to the proposed reclassification by Town of Menasha residents, but they will have another opportunity to express their views, if they desire, later on in the legal process of the petition.

Up to Towns

If the county board approves the reclassification, which will be petitioned for Tuesday by Corporation Counsel Gerald Engeldinger, it will then go to the 16 town boards in the county for action.

Each town can accept or reject the change. If no action is taken, the change automatically goes into effect with 40 days from the time of county board action.

Town of Menasha residents, if they wish to be heard, could appear at Tuesday's county board meeting, or appear, if and when the town board meets to consider the matter further.

Other town residents can decide in the same way if they want to open up this kind of zoning under Residential B.

If hospitals, sanatoria and nursing homes are placed under Residential B, town boards would have less control of what is built in their area because the county zoning committee would issue building permits without their passing through the individual town boards.

Opens Apartment Issue

Mailahn said Friday that this has opened for study the advisability of adding a special classification for apartment construction and a recommendation will, hopefully, be ready early in 1969.

At present there are six classifications: Agriculture, Residential A (single dwellings), Residential B, (duplexes), Commercial A, Commercial B and Industrial.

Each town can accept or reject the change. If no action is taken, the change automatically goes into effect with 40 days from the time of county board action.

Airport Restaurant, Cocktail Lounge Issues Face Board

OSHKOSH — Clarence (Mike) Goerlitz, operator of the Winnebago County Airport Restaurant, will get an answer to whether or not he can have a cocktail lounge in the proposed new airport terminal and how much rent he will pay for 1968, when the Winnebago County Board meets Tuesday.

The supervisors will be asked to decide whether or not a cocktail lounge should be included when the new airport terminal, now on the drawing boards, is up for approval early next year.

For the past 11 months Goerlitz has been paying rent for the 1968 operation of the airport restaurant at the 1967 rate, in lieu of a contract with the aviation committee. No agreement could be reached between Goerlitz and the committee and the restaurant has expressed concern in the past several months about "this ridiculous way to do business."

Accord Undisclosed

He met with the board in executive session last week. Terms of the rental contract for the current year were not made known. Neither was it divulged if a contract between the two parties had been arrived at for the year ahead.

One of the factors which needed to be settled before final plans for the proposed $15 million new airport terminal could be drawn was whether a restaurant and cocktail lounge should be included on a two-story terminal.

Goerlitz has said that if an operator "could not sell liquor, this kind of restaurant operation would not be a good financial venture." Approval of a liquor license would pave the way for incorporating a cocktail lounge into the architect's terminal plans.

Another item on the agenda could run head-on into opposition. The highway committee will seek an additional $33,000 for construction of the new highway building. Original estimates were for $75,000, but bids received several weeks ago brought the cost to $182,600 without a basement and $206,000 with a basement.

Other items to be considered in the Tuesday meeting will be the approval of a working agreement between the county and the Chourhouse Employees Association, lease agreement with Basler Flight Service and another for the Hewitt hangar.

Drill Team Organized At Kaukauna High

KAUKAUNA — A girls' drill team has been organized at Kaukauna High School headed by Sharon Wynboom and Sue Diffatte.

Weekly practice sessions are scheduled in preparation for the first appearance between halves of the Jan. 11 basketball game between Shawano and Kaukauna.

Certificates Were Presented to 17 women this week for completion of a nursing assistance course offered by Vocational, Technical and Adult Education District 12. ## Hanging of Green To Open Y-Teens' Christmas Season

NEENAH-MENASHA — The annual hanging of the greens festival, including an interpretative dance and the singing of Christmas carols, will begin at 3:30 p.m. Sunday at the YWCA Community Center.

Under the direction of Pat Akstulewicz, 30 members of the ninth grade Y-Teens will be in charge of the event, which since the mid-1930's has officially opened the Christmas holidays.

The program will begin with an interpretative dance by six girls, followed by the Y-Teens and audience singing Christmas carols.

Ex-Winneconne Councilman Dies

WINNECONNE — Edwin O. Kaul, 78, former member of the village council, died at 6 p.m. Friday at the Mercy Medical Center in Oshkosh.

He was a native of the Town of Scott (Sheboygan County), spent his youth on his parents' farm near Fond du Lac, married Edna Tegelman in 1921 and operated a grocery market and dairy in the Chicago area before moving to Winneconne in 1949.

Kaul also was a member of the Community Men's Club past trustee of the First Presbyterian Church and a member of the Winneconne Masonic Lodge.

He is survived by his widow, two sons and five grandchildren. Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Monday at the First Presbyterian Church. Friends may call at the Mueller Funeral Home after 3 p.m. Sunday.

Nine-Year-Old Sylvia Hamby, Menasha, is catching up on her English after spending two years in France. She reads and speaks French fluently. A pupil at Banta Elementary School, Sylvia is instructed in English by Mrs. Viola Levitt, who volunteered to spend two afternoons a week providing instruction to children.

10 Hunters Forfeit Bonds At Waupaca

Variety of Charges Filed Against Nine Men, One Woman

WAUPACA — Ten hunters arrested during the recent deer hunting season forfeited bonds Thursday totaling $400 in Municipal Justice Court.

The largest bond was forfeited by Robert Korth, 21, 1740 Lombard St., Oshkosh, who was charged with hunting without a valid archer's license and hunting during a closed season. His bond totaled $83.

Possession of untagged venison resulted in bond forfeitures by David Miller, 24, route 4, Waupaca, who forfeited a $55 bond, and Charles Miller, 28, Halbeck Street, Waupaca, who forfeited a $50 bond.

Dennis Huebner, 23, route 2, Waupaca, forfeited a $15 bond for hunting within 200 feet of a highway and another $15 bond for hunting deer without a back tag.

Others arrested for hunting too close to a highway were Harold J. Morack, 24, route 1, New London, who forfeited a $19 bond, and Tom Elmerman, 29, 2124 Doemel St., Oshkosh, who forfeited a $15 bond.

Bonds of $30.50 were forfeited by Jesse Ramos, 36, and Ruth Woodland, both listing their address as 24 W. 10th St., Oshkosh, were charged with carrying a loaded gun in a car and Thomas C. Mueller, 30, Racine, who was charged with hunting in Waupaca County with a rifle.

Eugene C. Green, 44, 601 W. Jennings St., New London, forfeited $94.30 for carrying a license and tag belonging to another person.

Taft School Addition Plans Okayed; $170,000 Job Enters Bid Phase

NEENAH — The school district's building and grounds committee approved the floor plans of the addition to Taft Elementary School Thursday and directed the architect to prepare working drawings and bid specifications. The board also received Roosevelt School addition specifications.

Roydon Ginnow, partner in the architectural firm of Boettcher & Ginnow, Inc., Neenah, told the committee the addition should be completed by January of 1970.

It will include five new classrooms, an instructional materials center, (IMC) and work and storage areas, he said.

The educational concept of open classrooms will be incorporated into the program at Taft, Business Manager James Clark said. He explained there would be no walls between the rooms, but the walls could be added if necessary.

Base Cost $170,000

Ginnow said the base construction cost at the school is expected to hit $170,000, while it should reach $180,000 for the two story addition at Roosevelt Elementary School.

Ginnow presented the specifications of the Roosevelt addition to the committee and discussed the details of the project with committee members.

Clark said the administration would also study the specifications for about a week and would then direct the architect to bid the project.

The principal features of the expansion will be additional classrooms, an IMC and large kindergarten, Ginnow said.

An audio room on the second floor will also serve as a reading and vision testing area, he said.

One drawback in the project, he told committee members, is the fire alarm system. The system in the new addition is not planned to be connected to the system in the present facility.

The committee asked Ginnow to determine the extra costs to have the two systems connected.

Construction on the project could get underway in February with occupancy by Mid-August, Ginnow said.

Clark explained that the August date could enable use of the school for the start of the fall term.

Yule Songs To Ring Out In Concerts

Four Christmas concerts have been scheduled next week by the Appleton high schools.

Appleton High School-West has planned a 7:30 p.m. concert Monday while both Fox Valley Lutheran and Xavier will have 8 p.m. concerts Sunday. Appleton High School-East will have an 8 p.m. concert Thursday.

A special invitation to attend the AHS-West program has gone out to all junior high youths who will attend the high school in the coming years. It was prepared by the school's Music Parents' Association.

Participating will be the Terror and Concert bands, the orchestra, and the choir. Conductors will be John Slagle, Lester Schulz, Ivan Spangenberg. The program will include traditional, classical and contemporary Christmas themes. Featured soloist with the concert band will be Kathy Brewster on the French horn.

The entire music department will participate in a finale, "Man and His World," by Frank Cross and Robert Hughes, which was used as the theme of "Expo 1967."

A 25 cent admission fee will be charged for students and adults. Children will be admitted free.

The department of vocal music under the direction of Zi Hyung Sa, will present its concert at 8 p.m. Sunday in the school gym.

General themes for the four-part concert include, "A Family in December," "Shoppers in a Store," "Carolling in the Street," and "The Sound From a Church."

Piano accompanists include Moon J. Sa, Judy Enz, Yvonne Kokke, and Marcie Jachek. Guitarists will be Richard Balza, Loretta Brandt, Cindy Harrant and Mary Zwicker.

Pat Harper and Madge Greversen will be organists and Betty Lou Bock and Ann Loerke, flutists.

Groups appearing in the concert include Xavier Singers, Senior Chorus, Star Singer of 1968-69, Alumni Madrigal Singers, and ensembles from the vocal class. Paul Whitehead and Mark Jankowski will be master of ceremonies.

Participating in the 8 p.m. concert at FVL will be the choir and band. As always, the joint concert will offer both sacred and secular music.

Gerhard Roloff will direct the choir in sacred music with Mary Heidemann as soloist for "O Jesus Child." Lanny Prah will conduct the band in both sacred and traditional Christmas numbers.

The offertory organ selection will be Bach's "From Heaven Above," and will be played by Jon Peterson.

A variety of yule music from many lands will permeate the AHS-East program.

The girls choir, accompanied by Thomas Froelich, will start the program. Participating in the first half will be the men's choir, with Jeff Galloway as soloist; Patriot Choral and girls choir, with soloists Joe Schreiter, Mary Hartzheim, Thomas Stevens, Debby Kohl, Terry Bock and Sherrie Van Wyk, Cindy Harrant, Willis L. James, Paula Crupi, Ann Huycke, Julie Bunnell, Diane Kugler, Nancy Saari and Beth Kubale.

The AHS-E Concert Orchestra will offer traditional and classical holiday pieces and the combined orchestra and choral will have an adaptation of the "Nutcracker Suite" in the second part of the concert.

Miss Fran Bubolz is the choral director; Mrs. William Wilke, orchestra and Thomas Jacobs, band.

Icy Streets Factor in Crash Rash

Slippery, snow-slick city streets contributed to a rash of auto accidents as the weekend began but only two persons reportedly suffered minor injuries.

Samuel E. Ramker, 22, 1415 W. Harris St., Appleton, complained of a sore back and shoulder about 3:45 p.m. Friday after his auto struck the rear of one driven by Mary Jane Witter, 310 Ann St., Kimberly. Both cars were moving south on S. Mason Street and the Witter car was struck as it stopped at the W. Prospect Street intersection.

Kay L. Brock, 22, 817 N. Appleton St., Appleton, received a bump on the knee early Friday night in a two-car collision at N. Division and W. Packard streets. She was riding in a car driven by Richard A. Brock, 22, same address, which struck a car driven by Patrick G. Meidan, 42, 1405 W. Brewster St.

Police cited Meidan who reportedly turned left into the path of the Brock auto. Damage was estimated at $900.

Schools Throughout the Fox Valley are getting ready for Yule concerts. Here Ivan Spangenberg, music instructor at Appleton High School-West, works with his group of young musicians for their 7:30 p.m. Monday concert. Fox Valley Lutheran and Xavier have scheduled holiday concerts at 8 p.m. Sunday. Participating in the AHS-West program will be the orchestra, choir, and Terror and concert bands. ### $3 Million to $5 Million

Council to Get Report on Oneida Street Bridge Plan

A preliminary report on the proposed new Oneida Street high level bridge will be in the hands of city officials within a week, it was learned Friday.

The cost of the structure is likely to range between $3 million and $5 million, the latter estimate included land acquisitions for the remaining right-of-way which will be needed.

Howard, Needles, Tammen and Bergendoff, consulting firm with a regional office at Milwaukee, conducted the study for the city over the past several months.

Recently, some members of the street-sanitation committee and other city officials conferred with the firm's engineers and received a briefing on the proposed bridge location.

Good Purchase

It was disclosed the previous purchase by the city of the Congregational Church property and one of two residents from the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. represented a good move because the bridge and approaches will cover those areas.

The long-range plans of the city call for construction of the

Fighting for Life

Newborn Baby Found in Car Near Outagamie Hospital

"Baby Girl X" continued to fight for her life today in the warm isolalette at Appleton Memorial Hospital, where she was rushed Friday afternoon after being found nearly lifeless on the front seat of a cold, parked car at Outagamie County Hospital.

An Appleton doctor said the abandoned, newborn baby remains on the critical list, suffering from the effects of severe exposure.

Meanwhile Outagamie County sheriff's investigators continue their search for the first good lead in the third baby abandonment case here in 1½ months. So far, authorities admit they have "almost nothing" in the way of solid leads.

Investigators are continuing to seek information about a "red sports car" that was seen unoccupied in the middle of the county hospital parking lot an hour before the baby was discovered Friday.

Green Blanket

Mrs. Bernice Rasmussen, 1108 Jefferson St., New London, found the naked, newborn infant wrapped in a green blanket on the front seat of her unlocked car.

Mrs. Rasmussen, a nurse's aide at the county hospital for about 10 months, told The Post-Crescent she made the discovery when she got into her car upon leaving work about 3:05 p.m.

She said she saw the blanket and "... thought one of my kids left it there." She parted it and found the limp body, the umbilical cord still attached. A doctor later told police the other end of the cord appeared to have been "crudely cut."

There was dried blood on the baby's face. Investigators said it appeared the infant had been born in the blanket, but not in Mrs. Rasmussen's car. The New London woman said her car had been there since 6:15 a.m. Friday.

No Sound

Mrs. Rasmussen said the infant made no sound. "I wrapped it up and ran back into the hospital," she explained.

A registered nurse, Mrs. David Peck, 3,000 E. Broadway Drive, who has worked at the county hospital only 2½ months, applied mouth to mouth resuscitation after clearing the baby's mouth. "I gave it just a few breaths and it started to whimper," Mrs. Peck explained.

When Mrs. Rasmussen brought the baby from outside, where the temperature hovered around 20 degrees, the infant was not breathing, was "blue," and had no detectable pulse, nurses said.

Mrs. Peck helped several other nurses wrap the infant in warm towels and "snap" its feet to stimulate circulation. The nurses gave the baby oxygen for about 10 minutes, until an ambulance arrived. They said that by that time, the baby was crying.

A doctor told investigators the baby was born 1½ to two hours before it was admitted to the hospital.

Functioning Poorly

The baby's veins had started to "collapse" and its respiratory system was functioning poorly, the doctor told police.

Recorded at the hospital as "Baby Girl X," the infant is 20 inches long, weighs six pounds, three ounces, and has blue eyes and brown hair.

The doctor said that had the baby remained in the cold car another 15 minutes it probably could not have survived.

Mrs. Rasmussen's car was parked only about 100 yards from the glassed-in front lobby of the county hospital, however, authorities could find no patients or employees who saw anyone near the auto Friday afternoon.

They received information on the red sports car from a man and his wife who said the auto was stopped in the middle of the lot, near Mrs. Rasmussen's auto, about 2 p.m. There was no one around the red car, the couple told authorities.

Check Motels

Undersheriff Calvin L. Spice, Lt. Jack Zuelzke and Investigator George Hanlon began an immediate check of hotels and motels in Appleton area. They said the blanket in which the infant was wrapped appeared to be the type used in motels and hotels. Authorities drew a blank on the check.

They appealed to help from the public, hoping that someone may have seen suspicious activity in the county hospital parking lot Friday afternoon, or may know women they suspect could have had a baby Friday outside a hospital. Anyone having any information that might be pertinent is asked to contact the sheriff's department immediately.

Checks were also planned of hospitals and doctors offices, in hopes of finding information on a woman who may have sought post-natal assistance.

Out of Town

Investigators felt that whoever left the baby might be from out of town. "They may have seen the county hospital from the highway (U.S. 10) and thought it was a regular hospital," Zuelzke explained. Thinking this, he said, the person may have felt the baby would be discovered soon and would be cared for.

Two of the three abandoned baby cases in Outagamie County are unsolved. Authorities still are looking for their first solid lead in the investigation of circumstances surrounding the finding of a dead, newborn infant in a field along County Trunk JJ, two miles north of Kaukauna at noon Oct. 28.

That infant, wrapped in a paper sack, died of exposure.

A second dead baby was found in a field on a route 1, Hortonville farm Nov. 1, belonged to a 30-year-old woman who said she discarded it after it was stillborn, in a bathroom at her parents' farm the night of Oct. 27. She was placed on two years probation in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Dec. 3 after being found guilty of assaulting the death of her child.

New Super Highway East of Lake Winnebago Okayed

North-South Route Expected Near State 57; Completion Set for Sometime After 1975

Federal funding for a new four-lane highway between Milwaukee and Green Bay on the east side of Lake Winnebago has been approved by the U. S. Department of Transportation.

The 104.8 mile interstate link would cost an estimated $92.5 million of which the federal government would pay 90 per cent.

G. H. Bakke, secretary of Wisconsin's Department of Transportation, said the highway would be completed sometime after 1975.

A specific route for the new freeway has not been determined, according to Bakke. However, in the state's request for federal funds, a route basically following existing State 57 was indicated. The Milwaukee tie-in would be with the existing U. S. 141 freeway.

The state transportation official said the proposed multilane highway was needed to relieve traffic pressure from U. S. 41.

Bakke said the Green Bay-Milwaukee project was not necessarily the No. 1 need of the state's highway network, although Wisconsin highway officials had always "felt that it was justified."

Projects Rejected

Officials, he said, had considered a replacement for Highway 15 between Beloit and Milwaukee to have a higher priority. A replacement cost has been estimated at $45 million, and without federal aid, the state would have to pay the sum itself.

Other interstate proposals which didn't win federal approval include:

$50 Fines Levied for Shoplifting

With a warning that area merchants are more frequently pressing formal charges against shoplifters, Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer Friday afternoon levied $50 fines against a rural Appleton housewife and an Appleton man after they pleaded guilty of thefts from stores.

Mrs. Beverly Wisneski, 19, route 5, admitted stealing an undergarment valued at $2.99 from the F. W. Woolworth Co. on Nov. 23. The court was told she put the item in a shopping bag from another store and walked out.

Robert Armstrong, 59, 100 River Drive, pleaded guilty of taking a half pound of butter from the Piggly Wiggly Store, 420 S. Outagamie St., on Dec. 3. He put the butter in his jacket pocket, the court was told.

The proposed school, designed for students from kindergarten through sixth grade, already has caused considerable confusion. Township officials opposed the purchase of land by the board of education and took the matter to court where the board's right to purchase sites for schools was upheld.

Then a petition for a referendum was filed in which voters were asked whether a school should be built. This passed by almost two to one although rural residents in the district did not vote on the question.

The fiscal control board of the district approved floating a $1.5 million bond to construct and equip a new school, despite objections from three town chairmen and one city alderman. Nine aldermen, two town chairmen and the president of the Little Chute board voted in favor of the bond issue.

Bids for the building were received Nov. 5 and the board of education has until Feb. 5 to accept them. Based on bids received, total cost of the building and equipping would be $1,527,019, according to Julian Bichler, superintendent of schools. This includes architect fees, landscaping, and road beds.

Air Conditioning

Eliminating a proposed air conditioning system would reduce the total amount by $40,000.

City and school officials have been attempting to move rapidly on the school not only to meet increased enrollment demands, but to have construction underway before new contracts with craftsmen will increase the cost.

The building would include 18 teaching stations and two kindergarten rooms and would be situated on a 14-acre site near the north city limits adjacent to the Town of Buchanan. An art and music area would be provided in the school together with a small gym. The proposed building would have 52,000 square feet of teaching space and 10,000 square feet of basement and storage area.

Petitions asking for a referendum vote on the bond issue are believed to have been prepared by an Appleton attorney.

Not Unanimous County Assessor Recommended by Tarr Task Force

MADISON (AP)—A Tarr task force recommendation for uniform county assessment of property was made public Friday, although Revenue Secretary James R. Morgan tried to postpone distribution of copies of the report.

The recommendation, part of the first draft of the Tarr group's final report, says countywide assessment could lead to more equitable determination of a property tax base and help eliminate differences between wealthy suburbs and financially troubled cities.

Morgan said copies of the recommendation should not be released immediately because they don't reflect "the position of all members of the task force."

Overruled by Tarr

Newsman complained, however, and Curtis Tarr, chairman of the governmental study group, overruled Morgan, who serves as vice chairman of the task force.

A bill calling for countywide assessment was defeated in the Republican-controlled 1967 legislature.

Another item in the Tarr report suggests counties administer general relief, with the state setting standards.

More than 40 counties currently administer general relief, while municipalities handle the job in 31 other counties.

Broader Sales Tax

Morgan also recommended to the task force that the state needs a broader sales tax if the state is to provide more financial assistance to communities.

In a report to the task force, he listed higher sales taxes, higher income taxes and higher vehicle license fees as possible sources for higher state tax revenue.

Milwaukee is the leader of a campaign to get the state to assist cities through state aides and shared taxes. Knowles rejected a request for a special legislative session to consider municipal money problems, and said instead the cities should resume local spending.

Morgan told the Tarr committee, which is reviewing proposals for government improvement, that a higher sales tax would be one of the more logical means of building a bigger shared-taxes fund.

Only Tax Sources

"As a practical matter," he said, "there are only two tax sources where substantial amounts of additional money can be raised—the individual income tax and the sales tax."

While Wisconsin's state income tax is one of the nation's highest, the average Wisconsin family ranks near the bottom of the scale in its payment of sales taxes. Food, clothing and drugs are relatively free of sales taxes in Wisconsin.

Morgan said the Tarr group should also consider an increase in the vehicle license fee. He indicated he might have a report on this done by next month.

The Tarr task force is also expecting a review next month of methods of distributing shared taxes with cities.

Morgan said it is "logical to recommend that the revenue for additional state payments to local units, either through state aids or shared taxes, should come from the state sales tax."

New Vote Possible Petitions Challenge Kaukauna School

KAUKAUNA — The proposed northside elementary school, approved in a referendum, 1,515 to 817, earlier this year, may head for another vote if petitions being circulated opposing the $1.5 million bond issue to finance the building are filed.

Petitioners have until 5 p.m. Wednesday to file a request for a referendum on the bond issue. If filed, a special election would have to be called because the board of education already has received bids which must be accepted within 90 days.

Adequate Facilities

Opponents of the school claim existing school facilities are adequate. The board of education currently is renting seven classrooms, three in St. Mary Catholic School, three in the Methodist Church and one at Bethany Lutheran Church.

A total of 275 kindergarten students and first graders are occupying rented classrooms and school officials have projected an increase of about 150 students for next year. The problem is further complicated for school board members by the fact the Methodist Church property is for sale and if purchased, three classrooms could be lost.

The proposed school, designed for students from kindergarten through sixth grade, already has caused considerable confusion. Township officials opposed the purchase of land by the board of education and took the matter to court where the board's right to purchase sites for schools was upheld.

Then a petition for a referendum was filed in which voters were asked whether a school should be built. This passed by almost two to one although rural residents in the district did not vote on the question.

AHS-W Students Four Suspended for Disrespect to Teachers

Four 17-year-old Appleton High School-West students were suspended Friday afternoon after they refused to stand up for the school song during a basketball game pep rally.

The students — two junior boys and two senior girls — apparently objected to being required to attend the rally, school officials said. Specifically, they were suspended, probably for three days, for disrespect for teachers who asked them to stand, officials added.

A fifth boy, also 17, was suspended until a conference can be held Monday. However, the parents of the other youths must meet with school administrators and assure no future trouble before the four will be readmitted.

The rally also was interrupted earlier as about 20 students — which school officials described as "young people known to the police as SDS (Students for Democratic Society) sympathizers" — began clapping in unison and hung a black flag over the railing. Teachers did not attempt to stop the disruption until the students refused to stand for the school song.

Jerome Boettcher, principal, told police the four students were asked to leave when they refused to stand. However, he said the rally disruption was a school problem.

He said he called police because of a possible student sit-in at the Friday evening basketball game. Two police officers attended the game but no demonstration materialized.

Trial Set for Man Charged With Bad Conduct, Battery

Trial on charges of battery and disorderly conduct, both stemming from alleged fights with his wife, was ordered Friday afternoon for Maynard Schucknecht, 25, 702 N. Oneida St.

His estranged wife, Patricia, in the battery count, alleged that he came to her home Nov. 23 and struck her, threw her on the floor, and kicked her.

The disorderly conduct charge, brought by police, alleges that Schucknecht, about 5:15 a.m. Oct. 25, went to her home and caused a disturbance. He pleaded innocent to both counts, and Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer set trial for Feb. 12.

Schucknecht was freed on a $300 bond.
